Heated Debate In House On Parity Bill

Delay Action On Benefit Payments To The Farmers

WASHINGTON, March 25—(AP)—Split into wrangling blocs over the $1,067,000,000 agriculture department bill, the house engaged in tumultous debate for five hours today, then adjourned for the week-end without settling the major point of controversy—whether to vote $250,000,000 in parity payments for farmers.

Leaders sought to hold the members in session so as to pass the huge supply measure tonight, but finally capitulated to a rising sentiment for adjournment.

Representative Anderson (D-Mo.), who offered the motion to adjourn, said he did it to "save the bill for the farmers."

"The Republicans were in there butchering the bill," he said, "and there weren't enough Democrats on hand to stop it.

"Furthermore, Representative Marcantonio (AL-NY) intended to ask for the reading of an engrossed copy of the bill which would have held us in session until midnight."

When the house quit, it was about to begin direct consideration of the parity payments section. There was a possibility this would not be resumed until Tuesday because of the preferred status of legislation affecting the District of Columbia which comes up Monday.

Predict Its Passage

Rep. Cannon of Missouri, Democrat in charge of the bill on the floor, predicted it eventually would go through in much the same form as his subcommittee recommended, including the $250,000,000 for parity payments.

"We won't have any trouble," he said. "We've just been delayed a day or so, that's all."

After long hours of debate this was the situation:

Two groups of farm members were split over a proposal to boost the parity item to $500,000,000, because, in recommending even half that sum, the house appropriations committee ignored President Roosevelt's request for a 30 per cent reduction in benefit payments to farmers.

Behind the scenes an active bloc of urban members was jockeying for support from the farm group for the pending request for $150,000,000 additional for WPA, in return for support for the $250,000,000 parity fund.

(The parity fund was proposed in addition to other farm benefits totaling $500,000,000. Its sponsors contended it was needed to bring farm income to "parity" with prices of things farmers buy.)

The debate in the house often was heated. Party lines were disregarded in many instances and some of the squabbles had little to do with actual provisions in the bill.

Rep. Lambertson (R-Kas.) tangled with Rep. Ditter (R-Pa.), both members of the appropriations committee, because Ditter offered to withdraw a point of order against a minor provision in the bill if the Democrats would agree to amend it.

"I'd like to know who the devil is in charge of this bill," Lam-

Favor Opening Old "Y" Gym

A meeting of ministers and laymen met Saturday night at the old YMCA to discuss the re-opening of the gymnasium facilities. A committee of four laymen are to elaborate the plans further in conjunction with the committee already functioning under the Ministerial Alliance.

The Rev. J. C. English presided. Most of the thirty laymen and ministers who were present spoke on the report of the ministers' committee, as read by the Rev. W. P. Arnold. By motion of C. F. Scotten, the judgment of the group favored the plan and asked the appointment of the joint committee to report back to another meeting of laymen and ministers.

Present plans are to open the gymnasium and showers room. Some discussion ensued in the meeting regarding the feasibility and possibility of opening the swimming pool, but no discussion was possible on that matter at the present time.

Chicken Killing Dog At Large

Residents of the southeastern part of the city have complained to the police relative to the ravages of a dog in that section which they claim has, during the past several days, killed over fifty chickens.

The dog is a white one, according to those seeing the animal after it had killed several chickens in raids on roosts, or in chicken yards.

In Sunday School Weekly 60 Years

WASHINGTON, N. J., March 25—(AP)—When Herman K. Petty, self-styled "World's No. Sunday school attender," arrives at the local Methodist Episcopal church tomorrow he will have established a 60 years' perfect attendance record—or 3,120 consecutive Sundays.

The church wanted to stage a celebration, but the 70-year-old Petty waved away such suggestions because "I don't see any reason for it." He asked members to wait "until 1954 when I'll really have a record—75 years."

About ten years ago he postponed an operation to keep his attendance record intact.

Raw Beef In Durand Cache

No Inquest For Fugitive Creating Reign Of Terror

POWELL, Wyo., March 25—(AP)—Officers found today within three miles of Powell a hideout in which Earl Durand, raw meat-eating renegade killed by his own bullet, stayed five days while posse men hunted his trail.

While the 26-year-old Wyoming "Tarzan" was dressed for his burial in a trimly-fashioned brown suit, Sheriff Frank Blackburn reported discovery of the hideout in which Durand had left a quarter of raw beef and a leg of venison.

Slayer of four men, the desperate fugitive died in a mountain man's rough jacket and denim "levis" yesterday, shooting up his home town bank at the end of a bloody nine-day flight from the law. The bank teller was killed in the wild holdup battle.

Durand's mother and father, a respected ranching couple, arranged a private funeral for their son.

No Inquest for Poacher

Coroner Ray Easton said no inquest was necessary for the dead fugitive game poacher and the funeral probably would be Monday at the ranch home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Durand, five miles north of Powell.

Easton said he probably would

Verdict Given Hawks Of $4,500

Frank Hawks, 57, of Dodson, Mo., was awarded a verdict for $4,500 by a jury in the circuit court Saturday afternoon against Paul Zillman, 26, vocational teacher at Hamilton, Mo. Hawks had asked for $7,500, alleging he suffered permanent injuries in an automobile accident that occurred at the intersection of Raytown road and Bannister road, July 27, 1937. The case was originally filed in Cass county and brought to Pettis on a change of venue.

Hawks was riding in a car driven by his nephew, Melvin Hawks, and he alleged that the car had stopped at the intersection before entering Bannister road, and had started across when it was struck by the car driven by Zillman. He charged Zillman was driving at excessive speed.

The trial started Thursday morning, and was given to the jury at 2:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon. A verdict was returned two hours later.

Another suit, filed by the nephew, Melvin Hawks, against Zillman, is pending in court and will probably be called for trial in May.

The law firms of Sprinkle and Knowles and Crouch and Crouch of Kansas City and Montgomery and Salveter of Sedalia represented the plaintiff and Henderson and Deach, Kansas City, and Fred Wesner, Sedalia, the defendant.

Members of the jury were: Fred Borchers, Harvey Keens, Jr., Frank A. Clark, Harold Williams, Frank Steelman A. F. Mittelhauser, Ira Palmer, A. A. Yokley, Paul Chmelir, Dan E. McNair, Dan Duly and J. E. Funk.

Gold Shipments To United States Heavy

LONDON, March 25—(AP)—Gold shipments to the United States during Europe's latest war scare have topped those which went across the Atlantic during the September Czecho-Slovak crisis.

The flow which started in the last few days totaled £28,800,000 ($144,000,000) today, compared to £28,600,000 ($143,000,000) in September.

Insanity Plea For Strangler In Oklahoma

Confession By Husband In The Death Of Wife

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 25—(AP)—Attorneys for Roger Cunningham, 33, whose crudely-drawn map directed officers in the early morning hours to the sewer grave of his comely wife, Eudora, indicated today he would fight a murder charge with an insanity plea.

Herbert K. Hyde, nationally-known prosecutor of the Charles Urschel kidappers and now a private lawyer, was called into the case and said he felt sure Cunningham was "mentally sick."

"He has a valid insanity defense," said K. D. Mitchell, attorney and fraternity brother of Cunningham. "I think he is in a confused state of mind right now."

Filed Murder Charge

County Attorney Lewis R. Morris, who haggled a slaying confession out of the leaden-eyed, heavily-bearded Cunningham shortly after midnight, filed a formal murder charge and Cunningham was taken before Peace Justice Evert Crismore for arraignment but refused to enter a plea before talking with his lawyers.

The body of Mrs. Cunningham, 30-year-old society matron, was dug from its rain-moistened grave by flarelight after her husband broke a stubborn, 19-day silence with a confession he killed her and told an interviewer he acted in a fit of rage because he was tired from overwork and she nagged him.

Just a few hours before a scheduled habeas corpus hearing which officers said might have brought him freedom, he admitted he strangled his wife on the night of March 6 and buried her body in a sewer ditch.

With a firm hand, he sketched a map showing where the body was buried in a new housing addiiton in the northwest section of the city, then retired to his jail cell for the first sound sleep since his confinement last Monday.

Headed by Sheriff George Goff and Assistant County Attorney E. W. Brown, a searching party hurried to the spot and began to dig.

Body Fully Clothed

The body, fully clothed even to a jaunty little blue hat, trim brown sport shoes and tan swagger coat, was lifted into a hearse.

Cunningham told a reporter how he strangled his wife after a year of domestic discord in which she criticized him for working too much and giving her little attention.

His temper, he said, rose to fever pitch as they sat in his car on the fatal night and argued.

"I lost all sense," he murmured through quivering, swollen lips. "I got out of the car and stood in the ditch and when she stepped out I lost all sense. I don't know what I did.

"It was not until I was in jail and the days wore on that I could believe what a horrible thing I had done.

"When I knew I was going to be freed Saturday, I realized I had nothing to do but go home—home to an empty house where nobody waited for me. There would be nothing but emptiness. I knew the awful thing would weigh on me and haunt me. I knew I must tell of the crime.

"Now that it's over and I have

Police Chief's Son In Auto Accident

The Dodge sedan of Chief of Police John J. O'Brien was practically demolished late Friday night when the car went out of control of James O'Brien, the Chief's son, about one and a half miles east of Tipton, and turned over twice.

Young Mr. O'Brien and a young lady friend of Jefferson City had spent the evening visiting with his parents at 408 East Sixth street and were enroute to Jefferson City when the accident occured.

Slight injuries were received by the two occupants.

Reply Avoided By Stark As To Any Speeches

Intends To Press For Police Change At Kansas City

JEFFERSON CITY, March 25—(AP)—Capitol speculation tonight ranged around the possibility Gov. Lloyd C. Stark might "go to the people with his campaign to switch Kansas City's police department from home rule to state control.

The governor, in denouncing the attempts by opponents to read "politics" into his special message, said he hoped the people of the state would "aggressively support this crime crusade" but declined to amplify the statement. He avoided a direct reply to questions of his plans for further speeches on the same subject.

"Will this message lead to other speeches, Governor?" he was asked.

"I've got a whole calendar full of speaking dates here," Stark smiled in reply. "I don't know now what I'm going to say in them."

Purpose of such a campaign might be to start a shower of "letters from home" in on House members, who eventually must vote on the governor's proposal. Intimates point to the strong rural vote which went against the Pendergast supreme court candidate last summer after Stark made a personal stumping campaign against him.

The governor obviously enjoyed the bitter fight last summer and some of those around the capitol would not be surprised to see it reborn in the struggle for police control. The turn of the battle on the floors of the legislature must rest with the representatives from out-state.

Talk Of Surprise Attack

The handful of legislators in town over the weekend talked of nothing but the governor's surprise attack on the Kansas City police. They wondered what House member would be chosen—or volunteer—to send in the bill embodying Stark's recommendation; they wondered what effect the brewing fight would have on the length of the session itself.

Stark said yesterday he would wait several days to see if his suggested bill shows up, but if it doesn't he's not going to let the campaign languish.

"If the bill doesn't appear in a reasonable time I shall request someone to introduce it," Stark said.

Legislators, who two weeks ago were talking of an early close for this dull session, changed their minds quickly after Stark's appearance.

Much routine work has yet to be done and if it is shunted aside by a long and bitter Stark-Pendergast fight the session may drag on indefinitely. Topping that is Stark's statement he will come in later with a recommendation for criminal code reforms.

That would pitch the fight on a different level and bring into the controversy many legislators not directly concerned with the police board fight. But factional fights or not, this assembly must do something with 260 revision bills before it goes home—and that's a task that can't be done in one day, or several.

Trade Pact By Germany And The Netherlands

BERLIN, March 25—(AP)—Germany and The Netherlands have reached a new trade agreement after ten days of negotiations, it was announced tonight.

No details of the new agreement were given. It is effective April 1.

Expect Il Duce Speech To Be Conciliatory

Hitler Pledge On Anniversary Of Fascism

ROME, March 26 (Sunday)—(AP)—Fascists expected a conciliatory speech from Premier Mussolini at the celebration of their party's 20th anniversary today despite a strongly-worded message of support from Adolf Hitler.

The text of the message to Il Duce was known only to a few in Rome because, contrary to the usual practice, it was not made public.

Concern in Rome over the European situation has eased somewhat amid signs Italy and France might come to terms on Fascist claims for colonial concessions.

Among those Fascists who were familiar with the tenor of Hitler's communication—which expressed solidarity with Mussolini against attempts to restrict the "justified will for living" of their two nations—the fact it was not published was considered a clear indication Mussolini's remarks would not be bellicose.

A brief communique said only the Prince of Hesse, son-in-law of King Vittorio Emanuele, had brought Il Duce an anniversary message from Hitler in which the fuehrer joins in the ceremonies in the name of the German people.

The opinion was expresed greatest prominence would have been given the message if it had been entirely harmonious with the line Mussolini had planned to take.

Observers believed either Mussolini desired to announce the message personally in his speech, or that he wished to avoid the impression Hitler was sounding the keynote.

From Berlin Hitler had assured his axis partner "the German people stand shoulder to shoulder" with Italy in defending the two peoples against "attempts to restrict" their "will of living.'

Thus if Mussolini should decide to mention in his speech any demands on France, Hitler's pledge would add some strengh to them.

Hitler Message Cordial

The text of Hitler's message as made public in Berlin follows:

"On the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Fascist fighting units I think of you in hearty and true friendship as the victorious creator of a proud new Italy.

"Filled with the same ideals, the German people stand shoulder to shoulder with the battle-proved Italian nation in defense against all hateful and incomprehensible attempts to restrict the justified will for living (le-

Borah Places England As A Hitler Friend

Demands That U. S. Stay Clear Of Entanglement

WASHINGTON, March 25—(AP)—Charging Great Britain with encouraging Germany to swallow up Austria and condoning the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia Sen. Borah (R-IDa.) asserted tonight Chancellor Hitler has "no better friend" than England.

In an address prepared for delivery over the radio, the dean of the senate foreign relations committee made clear he thought there was no reason for this country to take any step to aid the European democracies.

"What they (the democracies) are contending for is the realization of their imperialistic scheme and not the destruction of Nazism," he said.

Borah made no direct reference to the impending controversy over neutrality legislation in the senate, but his address was accepted as a prelude to the general debate expected to come next week when the foreign relations committee considers changes in the law.

An administration-sponsored proposal—advanced by Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the foreign relations committee,—would permit the sale of munitions to belligerents on a "cash and carry" basis. Such sales now are barred when the act is invoked.

Admittedly, it is aimed at helping England and France which presumably would control the sea if war develops.

"For myself," Borah declared, "I would adhere closely to the advice of Washington—no entangling alliances, express or implied. I would regard the Monroe Doctrine as a part of our national defense and a cornerstone of our foreign policy. I would send no money to European war chests, no munitions to any nation engaged in war, and above all, no American boy to be sacrificed to the machinations of European imperialism."

Cite Needs To Bring Recovery

(By Henry Paynter)

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP)—Some financial and industrial leaders said today early success of the business recovery program of Secretary of Commerce Hopkins would require one of two things by next Friday:

1. A "dramatic gesture" by President Roosevelt which would convince the financial community that he will support the plan actively.

2. Some reassurance by Hopkins himself regarding the "seeming lag" in development of his plan when he meets with "big business" executives of his business advisory council next Friday.

Some men who have championed the Hopkins program in recalcitrant sections of Wall street pointed out it had been jointly worked out by business and administration leaders who had agreed, prior to its announcement by Hopkins more than a month ago, that certain things would have to be done, and done promptly, to restore investor confidence.

Not only have few of the agreed steps since been taken by the administration, they said, but some elements of the program have been "adversely handled," with the result optimism in the financial community is fast dwindling, even among a number of its original "big business" supporters on the council itself.

Some, including members of the council, said they now fear that if neither of the two steps indicated is taken by Friday, various council members may withdraw active support.

Plan Attracting More Tourists

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 25.—The last of four regional meetings being held this month in Missouri to foster the reorganization program of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce, will convene Thursday, March 30, at Springfield's Kentwood Arms hotel. Business sessions wil start at one o'clock and close with an informal dinner commencing at 6:30 in the evening.

George F. Olendorf, of Springfield, president of the state chamber and director of the southwest regional meeting has extended invitations to all persons in the region who are interested in the new "five year program" proposed by the reorganized state body.

The "five year program" of the Missouri State Chamber of Commerce has as its aim the development of industry, agriculture, and natural resources, the attraction of tourist travel through the state, and the conduct of research to make the program possible.

The Springfield meeting on March 30, will be held under the sponsorship of the Springfield Junior Chamber of Commerce. Principal speakers on the day's program will be R. R. "Dick" Nacy, former state treasurer and now president of the Jefferson City Chamber of Commerce, who will address the afternoon meeting, and Dan W. Snyder, Jr., president of the Missouri Power & Light company, who will speak at the dinner, outlining the problems facing the reorganized state chamber.

The Springfield meeting is expected to attract many from Missouri's resort regions, which are located for the most part in the southwest part of the state. Plans are being made for an attendance of more than five hundred persons.

An Interesting P.T.A. Meeting Near Postal

Sedalia Women Participate In A Special Program

Mrs. William Reed, president of the Sedalia council of Parent-Teacher Associations, explained the importance of committee work in local associations at the School of Instruction held at the Memorial Baptist church near Postal, Thursday afternoon. Committees may be considered the machinery of parent-teacher associations. These groups working together first get their information as to their duties at the executive meeting when reprints from the parent-teacher manual are distributed. Mrs. Reed named four committees as being essential: program, publicity, membership, and hospitality. The program committee should select program topics which will be of interest to the community. Participation of parents on programs was suggested. In enrollment of members first teach people what they are joining. Often this can be done by explanation of objectives at study groups. The hospitality group is responsible for the arrangement of the room for meeting, this includes seating, lighting, heating and ventilation. The members of this committee should be individuals who meet people easily and who can help in creating a friendly attitude toward all in the group.

Meets of Local Associations

Details of the business meeting of the local associations were given by Mrs. M. E. Green, president of the council of Parent-Teacher Associations, who presided during the afternoon. Mrs. John C. Brown, president of the Olive Branch unit, who is secretary of the county council, gave the secretary's report of the recent March council meeting. Exhibits of publicity material prepared by a local publicity committee of which Mrs. Paul Baum, county council vice president, is chairman, were used by Miss Mamie McCormick, county council publicity chairman, in outlining the duties of the local committee.

Mrs. P. R. Burford, Sedalia district president of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers, told of the valuable aid which the state officers and chairmen were able to give the local groups in carrynig out their objectives for the year.

Mrs. J. F. Shaw, president of the Lookout association, told of the successful study class held during the year and plans for yard improvement. Mrs. Herschel Hooper, president of the Postal unit, told of twenty one paid memberships for the year, and a play which had been given by the membership. Mrs. Brown of Olive Branch also reported a successful study class and equipment which had been bought for the school through funds raised by the PTA. Mrs. Roy Potter, who is president of the Scott association, told of the cooperative work of that membership in the production of local talent plays. Other association members and visitors who registered during the afternoon were: Mesdames Susie Rayhill, Marguerite Rayhill, Chas. Drinkwater, Ollie Richards, George Spry, Lloyd Taylor, T. E. Marlin, and Geo. M. Adams.

Expect Throng In Convention April 26-30

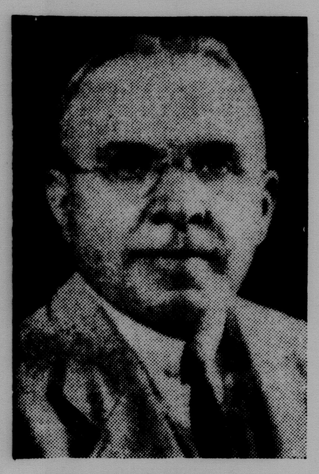
State Meeting Of Christian Churches For Five Days

(By Church Reporter)

The 101st annual convention of Missouri Christian churches, to be held in Sedalia April 26-30, inclusive, is expected to bring a great throng of people to this city during its five days sessions.

Local committees, under the leadership of C. L. Hanley, general chairman are working hard to have everything in readiness for the comfort and convenience of the visitors.

Already many advance registrations have been received, and one of the greatest conventions in the history of the denomination is anticipated. A strong program has been arranged, including many men and women of national prominence in the religious world. Among the outstanding speakers for the convention will be Dr. Robert M. Hopkins, who will address the convention on Thursday evening, April 27. This will be Women's Missionary Council Day and a most interesting program has been arranged for this day.



Dr. Robert M. Hopkins

Dr. Hopkins is president of The Christian Missionary Society, Ind., a board of missions and education of the Disciples of Christ. Through this organization work is conducted in the United States and Canada, and in ten foreign countries. He has been in religious work since 1899, and is the immediate past secretary of the World's Sunday School Association. Before taking that position in 1928 he was general secretary of religious education of the United Society.

Dr. Hopkins was a leader in the merger of the International Sunday School Council of evangelical denominations with the International Council of Religious Education, and in the reorganization of the World's Sunday School Association at the ninth world convention in Glasgow, Scotland, in 1924.

A wide traveler and a student of world affairs, Dr. Hopkins recently returned from a five month's world journey. He visited South Africa and Ceylon before going to Madras, India, to attend the decennial meeting of the Foreign Missions Council there. While in India he visited all the mission stations supported by Disciples of Christ through the United Society in India. He then visited Egypt, Syria, Palestine and Europe. He has also traveled through South America and the Orient.

The water area of continental United States, exclusive of the Great Lakes, amounts to 53,013 square miles.

Peter Interprets Christ's Sufferings

Text: I Peter 1:17-23; 2:20-25

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor Of Advance

Impulsive Peter who, like the other early disciples, had followed Jesus in the belief that He was going to set up on earth a kingdom in which they would have place and power, discovered that the plans and purposes of God are not always revealed or manifested by fulfilling the ambitions of men.

Through the suffering and death of his Master, Peter came to see more deeply into God's purposes and into the meaning of life, and in his messages of comfort and inpiration to the disciples the theme of suffering occupies an important place.

Here he is interpreting for the early disciples the meaning of Christ's sufferings and death. He points out that the redemption of these Christians has not come easily, but it has been bought with a price, and above all with the precious blood of the crucified Christ.

But this crucified Christ has risen again. He is a living Lord, and He has the power to purify the souls of those who believe in Him and who seek the way of life in obedience to the truth and in unfeigned love of the brethren.

Here again he returns to the theme in the last lesson, suggesting that if man suffers it is better that he should suffer for well-doing than for evil-doing. What glory is there in a man's endurance of suffering patiently if he has sinned and brought that suffering upon himself? But where a man is called, following the example of Jesus Himself, to witness to God's grace through suffering, that is a very different thing.

Perhaps as we study this lesson son today we ought to safeguard ourselves against the idea that God inflicts needless suffering upon anyone. In fact we ought to beware of assuming too readily that God is the author of pain and suffering. We live in a scientific age, and we understand the causes of pain and suffering as these were not understood in Peter's day.

Yet we must recognize that there is a mystery of pain and suffering that science has by no means solved. It is undoubtedly true that the innocent suffer with the guilty and for the guilty. Children bear in their bodies and in their lives the sins of their parents.

We cannot get away from these strange facts and mysteries of life, and as long as this mystery and fact of suffering is present with us, there will be great need of such teachings as Peter has given in these recent lessons and as the whole New Testament gives us. There is alike a helpful discipline and a true blessedness for those who can meet their sufferings in the spirit of faith and trust, praying for courage and for peace and patience.

The thoughtless person or the person of materialistic mind may scoff at these things, but the fact is that a great beauty of living has attached to lives that have been lived in the midst o. pain and hardships. From such lives there has often come such inspiration and encouragement to others that one might well believe that there are those who are called of God to minister in that way.

In any case, there is strength of mind and soul, as well as great peace and comfort, when we can meet whatever life brings to us day after day with the courage and faith of the Christian.

Meeting Tuesday On Cancer Control

Mrs. David S. Long, of Harrisonville, state commander for the Women's Field Army for the Control of Cancer, will be in Sedalia Tuesday, and has asked those women who met with her last year, to meet her again at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, on the mezzanine floor of the Bothwell hotel. Any other women interested in the work are welcome.

Mrs. Long will outline her plan of work for the coming year. Mrs. A. J. Campbell is Pettis county's representative in the Field Army for the Cancer Control.

Mrs. Long is well known in Sedalia. She is first vice-president for the National Women's Auxiliary to the American Medical Association, and is active in club work in the state.

Open Meeting By Speakers Club

The open meeting of the Speakers' Club next Thursday night, March 30, has been designated as "Merchants Night." The club will devote the evening to a program designed to interest the merchants and their employes in the work being done by the organization.

It will be conducted as a regular session. Three speakers will give prepared talks of 10 minutes each. This will be followed by a review of the text on "Theories of Public Speaking," by Dale Carnegie. Ordinarily in studying the text, one chapter in the book is discussed at each meeting, but for this open meeting, the entire work covered this far will be briefly reviewed.

One of the features of the program will be the period devoted to extemporaneous talks. Each of the members present will be required to make a two-minute speech on a subject given him by the chairman when he is called to the platform. No advance preparation is possible and the entire talk must be covered while the speaker is on his feet.

The program and speakers are as follows:

Ten-minute prepared talk: Edward Blake.

Ten-minute prepared talk: Capt. Hausman.

Ten-minute prepared talk: Pat Handley.

Review of the public speaking text: Philip Kain.

Criticism report; E. W. Kettleson.

Extemporaneous talks: By members of the club.

The program will be in charge of J. W. Dale, chairman for the evening.

Whittier P. T. A. Has Program

The Whittier P. T. A. met in regular session Friday afternoon with the president, Mrs. J. G. Johnson, presiding.

A very entertaining program was presented by the pupils of the third grade under the direction of Miss Bernice Wood, music director, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Wahrenbrock, teacher of the third grade.

Songs, verse choir and rhythm orchestra composed the program.

Songs, "Morning Glory" and "Rosa."

Verse choir, "When the Little Boy Ran Away" and "They Didn't Think."

Piano duet, "Rose Petals," by Lorene Miley and Ilene Wagner.

Rhythm orchestra, "Happy Homes" and "Our Orchestra."

The P. T. A. song was sung by the assembly led by Mrs. C. E. Van Horn.

The devotional was read by Mrs Allan Cowherd.

During the business session the following officers for the 1939-40 year were elected:

Mrs. H. M. Green, president.
Mrs. C. E. Van Horn, vice-president
Mrs. Allan Cowherd, secretary.
Miss Elizabeth Wahrenbrock, treasurer.
Mrs. Sara Hilton, treasurer of lunch room.

The winners of the membership contest were Miss Wahrenbrock's room grade three and George Peaks room grade seven.

Reports were given by the chairmen of the various committees.

Miss Minnie A. Shaffer, principal, then gave a brief talk on the grading system. She explained how the children were graded on their application to their school work.

The mothers were then invited to visit their children's room to learn about their child's work and to become better acquainted with their teacher.

Prepare For The 1939 Fish Crop

JEFFERSON CITY, March 25.—It is seed bed making time at the Missouri state fish hatcheries, too, but it requires more than an interesting catalog and a pretty paper basket to furnish the seed. With a record of more than 4 million fresh water fish produced and distributed from the Conservation Commission's hatcheries last year, the fish production section is bending every effort toward getting ready for the 1939 crop.

More than 104 acres of water in 61 defferent hatchery ponds are now being prepared for the current year's production of the one crop which apparently is not threatened with overproduction. These ponds are in addition to the cooperative bass rearing ponds to be maintained by conservation groups this year. April 1 was the date set for final applications for bass fry for the cooperative agreement ponds, and in anticipating that a large percentage of the twenty counties which have submitted applications will qualify for the fish, hatchery workers are making efforts to have an ample supply of fry for both the hatchery and cooperative rearing pools.

Included in the new hatchery rearing ponds will be those at Indian Trail, Deer Run, Montauk and Lewis and Clark State Parks.

The height of the 1938 bass spawning period was between May 14 and May 28, and all ponds will be fertilized and stocked with brood fish by mid-April.

The Osage Homemakers met at the home of Mrs. W. H. Thomas at the March meeting. The day was spent quilting. It was decided to have all day meetings throughout the summer with noon luncheons served cafeteria style.

Attending were, Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Nellie Arnold, Mrs. Warren Benz, Mrs. Charles Redden, Mrs. Adolph Pinkepank, Mrs. C. L. Rages, Mrs. Granville Thomas, Mrs. Wm. Thomas, Mrs. W. H. Thomas, Harry Thomas, W. H. Thomas, William Thomas and George Powell.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Redden, April 21.

Slight Advance To Grain Market

CHICAGO, March 25.—(AP)—The wheat market was firm in a very light trade today, prices closing as much as ½ cent up and at the session's best level. Slight opening losses were short-lived.

Reports of rains and good growing weather in the domestic winter wheat belt were more than offset by firmness at Liverpool and Winnipeg and continuing political tension abroad.

Wheat closed ⅛ to ½ cent higher, May and July 68c to 67⅞c; corn unchanged to ¼ cent up, May 47⅝c, July 49⅜c; oats ¼ to ⅜ cent up May 29⅝c to 29¾c; soy beans unchanged to 1 cent up, May 88¾c; rye ¼ to ⅜ cent up, May 41⅞c; lard unchanged to 3 cents higher.

Liverpool, due ⅛ to ¼ cent up, changed to ⅛ cent higher on weekend covering that counteracted cheaper Argentine offerings.

Buying by houses with eastern connections and higher Buenos Aires futures stimulated the corn market.

A comparatively sharp advance carried May oats to 30 cents a bushel, up ⅝ cent from the previous close and the best level since early in January.

Rye trade was light and prices firm. Lard was unchanged to slightly higher reflecting a steady cottonseed oil market.

HEAD ON CROOKED

Many people's heads are not set on their spines properly. It may be tilted forward, backward or to the side. The most common condition is where the head is twisted on the spine a little, due to rotation of the second vertebra.

Dr. Roy M. Keller

To detect such a case, seat the person directly in front, with his back to the examiner. Hold both shoulders rigid and have the person turn his head as far to one side as possible and then to the other. By observing carefully the amount of profile showing on one side, as compared with the other, many persons will show much more on one side. This is because a slippage of the vertebra has taken place. The head was partly turned to one side to start with. In turning the opposite way, it will not turn as far because the displacement will not permit it until it is adjusted to its normal position.

We have a more accurate way to determine the direction and degree of distortion but the above procedure will reveal the worst ones. These distortions are irritating the nerves and may cause serious trouble. It is a chiropractors duty to find and correct such conditions. If one has a neckache there is absolutely something wrong. It should be corrected.

Dealings Light On Stock Market

NEW YORK, March 25.—(AP)—The stock market today emerged from a rather nervous week with trends generally pointing slightly lower.

While sentiment was buoyed to some extent by the latest New Deal move to taper future increases in Social Security payroll tax rates, brokers thought the complex foreign situation was still a substantial buying deterrent.

Lightness of dealings on the day's decline provided some encouragement for analysts.

Transfers for the two hours totalled 439,270 shares, the smallest aggregate since February 18, and compared with 1,007,240 last Saturday The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .2 of a point at 49.1 and for the week was down .1. It was the second consecutive weekly decline in the composite.

Off fractions to around a point or so at the close were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, J. C. Penney, Southern Railway and N. Y. Central.

Exhibiting plus signs at the finish were Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Allied Chemical, Sperry, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Santa Fe and N. Y. Central.

U. S. Government securities moved up in the bond department and selected rail loans improved, but considerable irregularity marked other sections of the list.

Grocery Was Burglarized

The Menefee Grocery Store, Second street and Moniteau avenue, was entered sometime Friday night by a thief who knocked out a panel in a rear door to gain entrance. About $1.50 in change was removed from a cash register Police made an investigation.

HEALTH SO POORLY FRIENDS THOUGHT HE COULDN'T LIVE LONG

Could Not Regain Health Or Strength Since Attack Of Malarial Fever; Gave Up Farm Work . . . Completely Disabled Until KruGon Wrought The Seeming Impossible.

"Before KruGon did such marvelous things for me I had been told that I had but a short time to live, my health was so poorly," said Mr. L. E. Killion, a well known, highly respected local gentleman who resides at 1800 S. Warren St., Sedalia in a recent statement reaching the McFarland and Robinson Drug Store, this city:

"About four years ago I had an attack of malarial fever," continued M. Killion. "This was the beginning of a general run-down health condition which grew worse daily. I was so poorly I had to give up my farm work and move to town. For two years I was unable to do any work at all . . . completely disabled. I was dreadfully weak and nervous. My feet would swell during the day until I could not bear to have my shoes laced. The swelling would go down some at night but was a continual source of annoyance. It was when I moved into Sedalia that my friends and neighbors said I had but a short time to live. My wife read in the paper about KruGon and wanted me to try it. I did not have any faith in it, thinking it 'just another one of those medicines' but bought a box and began taking it to please her."

"The first few capsules seemed to make a change in my health so I really began taking KruGon in earnest then," he continued. "How glad I am that my wife insisted that I give KruGon a trial. I can now eat any foods that I desire and do not suffer any ill effects either. I have gained in weight from 142 pounds to 160 and feel good all the time. The pain and swelling have gone from my feet and legs and I have renewed strength and energy. My recovery was so remarkable that I have surprised many people who thought I was near death. I am able to do a good hard day's work again and feel as 'fit as a fiddle' at the end of the day. It should not be surprising that I am so enthusiastic about the KruGon after all it has done for me. I will never cease praising its wonderful ability in reaching my stubborn case and removing all doubt and skepticism from my mind. All praise to the KruGon!"

KruGon is sold by the McFarland and Robinson Drug Store, this city and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.

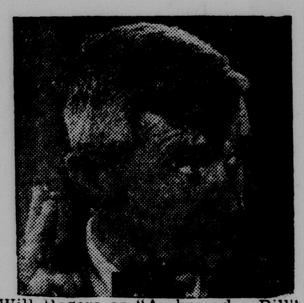
'Cinderella,' 1939 model

The strangest Cinderella story of all is unfolded in "Pygmalion," filmization of Bernard Shaw's world famous comedy which comes to the Liberty screen Tuesday for three days. In it a London ragamuffin is transferred into a duchess under the magic touch of Leslie Howard. Wendy Hiller as the "modern Cinderella," is shown above with Leslie Howard, in the Duchess stage of her transformation. Will the clock strike at twelve? You'll have to see "Pygmalion" for the answer!

Will Rogers in "Ambassador Bill," Plus "Four's a Crowd" Starring Rosalind Russell and Errol Flynn, at Uptown Today, Monday and Tuesday.



Will Rogers as "Ambassador Bill"

The Uptown Theatre for today Tuesday and Monday brings an outstanding double feature program to the screen. The unforgetable Will Rogers will appear in "Ambasador Bill," his loveable role as guardian to a small boy king of a stormy little Balkan country. o-feature is "Four's a Crowd," with Errol Flynn, Rosalind Russell, Olivia De Haviland and Patrica Knowles. In "Four's a Crowd," Errol Flynn, as an ambitious young publicity expert, finds himself involved with model trains and clamorous hounds, when he attempts to purchase a "Good Name" for Olivia's father, an eccentric Wall Street millionaire.

A cartoon and newsreel round out the program, with the newsreel showing the crash pictures of the fatal stratoliner which carried ten aviation experts to their deaths.

What to do with the Czecho-Slovakian exhibit at the New York World's Fair? The most representative thing would be to hang a black flag over it.

Star Meets Idol Of Freshman Days; In Film Together

Alice Faye Is Thrilled At Studio Reunion

Eleven years ago a high school freshman sat in a movie theatre in New York and breathlessly watched her romantic idol on the screen in "Seventh Heaven." Now he appears opposite her in "Tail Spin," Twentieth Century-Fox romantic melodrama of adventure opening today at the Liberty theatre. The high school freshman was Alice Faye and the object of her affection was Charles Farrell.

When Farrell reported on the set the first day of shooting Alice told him all about it. "I remember it as though it were yesterday," she said. "Four of us kids went over together. I think we skipped the last period to do it. And what's more we stayed to see the picture twice!"

Farrell was quite flattered. "Gosh," he said, "if I had known who you were I would have written you a letter and asked for your autograph."

Constance Bennett and Nancy Kelly are starred with Alice Faye in "Tail Spin" and the cast features, in addition to Charles Farrell, Joan Davis, Jane Wyman and Kane Richmond. Roy Del Ruth was assigned the direction by Darryl F. Zanuck, in charge of production for Twentieth Century-Fox.

(By Mrs. A. R. Snodgrass)

Mrs. E. N. Pizer, wife of the editor of the Tipton Times, and one of Tipton's most prominent young matrons, was operated on for appendicitis at the Bothwell hospital Tuesday morning, most successfully, and is recuperating nicely.

F. C. Swarner, well-known farmer of north of Tipton, was painfully hurt Monday afternoon. His team, which he was using to pull a telephone pole loose from the ground, jerked and threw him from the wagon, the force of the blow striking his shoulder and the back of his neck. Mrs. Swarner, hearing him call, went to his assistance. Mr. and Mrs. Swarner's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bowline, and their little daughter, are guests in the home, arriving Tuesday.

Mrs. C. A. Repp, of Otterville, was the honor guest of the Sew and So club, at the home of Mrs. L. W. Billingsley, on Thursday evening. Games were enjoyed and lunch served.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Martin are spending from Friday until Tuesday in Chicago, on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Norman have as their guest, Miss Mary Oglesby, of Boonville.

Dolores and Anita, the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Martin, celebrated their ninth birthdays Thursday afternoon, with a party of schoolmates and neighbors. Games were enjoyed and opening the gift packages was a pleasing feature for the young hostesses. Mrs. Martin served a lunch.

A. L. Finley made a business trip to the grain exchange in St. Louis Saturday. He was accompanied by his driver, John Albin, and by George Jordan, of Jefferson City. Mrs. Finley was the day's guest of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Jordan, of Jefferson City.

Music Club Program Will Be An Event Of This Week

Light Opera Program Is To Be Given

Miss Claycomb Receives Honors At Wm. Woods

A program arranged around a number of popular light operas will be presented at a meeting of the Helen G. Steele Music club at the Heard Memorial clubhouse this Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The program has been planned and directed by Mrs. B. H. Wenner and Mrs. Fred M. Ross.

Mrs. C. A. Wright will introduce the program and will give some of the outstanding facts about the lives of the composers, Victor Herbert, Sigmund Romberg, Rudolph Fremel, Gilbert and Sullivan, from whose light operas the music for the program has been taken.

Mrs. Wright will also tell the story of the various operas as the selections are presented.

The program as it will be given follows:

Paper on Light Opera, Mrs. C. A. Wright.

Overture, "Fortune Hunter" by Victor Herbert, for two pianos—Mrs. Fred M. Ross and Miss Mabel DeWitt.

Vocal solos, "Thine Alone" from "Eileen;" "When You're Away" from "The Only Girl"—Mrs. B. H. Wenner.

Chorus, "Allah's Holiday" from "Katinka;" "Two Little Love Bees" from "Spring Maid;" "Three Little Girls From School" from "The Mikado"—Mesdames B. H. Wenner, Burford Bettis, Clayton O. Markham, Abe Rosenthal and A. R. Beach, accompanied by Miss Maratha Redmond.

Vocal solos, "Auf Wiedersehn" from "Blue Paradise;" "Villia and Merry Widow waltz from "Merry Widow"—Mrs. Wenner.

Chorus, "Moonbeams" from "The Red Mill;" "Cat's Quartette" from "King Dodo;" "Isle of Dreams" from "The Red Mill;" "Flo" from "The Maid and the Mummy;" "In Old New York" from "The Red Mill."

Overture, "Naughty Marietta" by Victor Herbert, for two pianos and chorus.

Direct Light Opera Program

Mrs. Fred M. Ross (seated) and Mrs. B. H. Wenner, who have arranged a program of familiar selections taken from well-known light operas, for presentation at the Helen G. Steele Music Club meeting this Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Marjorie Claycomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Claycomb on North Highway 65, was presented Thursday night by the Jameson Conservatory of Music of William Woods College, Fulton, in her graduating recital.

Miss Claycomb has majored in speech and she read "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" by Rudolph Beiser. Miss Janice Mitchell, of Portsmouth, Ohio, gave her piano recital on the same program.

Miss Claycomb was one of five girls from the college, who on Tuesday afternoon, gave a thirty minute discussion on socialized medicine over station KFRU, Columbia. The evening of March 10 she was in the cast of the play, "Spring Dance," presented by the campus players of William Woods and Jabberwocky of Westminster college for men.

She was an nonor graduate of Smith-Cotton high school in the class of 1937.

Mr. and Mrs. Claycomb, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Menefee, Jr., and Mrs. D. R. Powell, of Hughesville, attended the recital Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walch entertained a number of children at their country home, Stonelea, near Georgetown, Friday afternoon and evening, for their son, Stanley, who was observing his fifth birthday.

The children were invited for 4 o'clock, and they played games until 6 when they were Stan's dinner guests, a birthday cake with five candles featuring the dinner.

In the games of the afternoon awards went to Marjorie Scruton, Tommy Menefee, Joan Mills and Billy Gilbert.

Mrs. Henry Loving assisted Mr. and Mrs. Walch in entertaining the following children, Billy Gilbert, Marjorie Scruton, Tommy Menefee, Catherene Ann Drake, Elizabeth Erdman, Joan Mills, Charles and Stanley Walch.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore gave a party March 19 in honor of their daughter, Charlotte Moore, on her sixth birthday anniversary.

The following guests were present, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Davis and son, Bradford, Mrs. E. E. Baum, and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Moore, of Kansas City, Helen McKenzie, Patty Joe Embree, Wava Stockwell, Dorothy Moore, Masters Max Birdsong, C. W. Summers, Harold Yeager, Gene and Bob Moore.

The Fortnightly Book club will meet at the home of Mrs. Harvey Keens, 1008 South Massachusetts avenue, promptly at 2:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Roll call will be answered by ginving a quotation on friendship.

Little Miss Betty Boyd entertained the F. W. Club at her home, on the state fair grounds Saturday afternoon. The children made books which they will give to the children at the Melita Day Nursery, and later in the afternoon were served refreshments.

Those attending were, Millicent Hale, Madge Cloney, Marjorie Ann Wade, Daisy Carol Culley, and Betty Boyle.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simon entertained at their home, 1009 South Lamine avenue, last Sunday, honoring Mrs. Simon's mother, Mrs. Mary Strickler, whose birthday it was.

Mrs. Strickler had her children with her for the occasion. Attending were, Mrs. V. V. File, a daughter of Kansas City, Kas., and family, John Strickler, Ernest Strickler, Mrs. Emma Rodewald and daughter, Barbara Jean, of the home, Mrs. Helen Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simon.

Miss Christine Landmann and her father, Emile Landmann, entertained at dinner at Hotel Bothwell Tuesday evening, Dr. Basil D. Gauntlett, guest artist at the Symphony orchestra concert. Mrs. Gauntlett, Miss Catherine Moore, violinist and James Adair, violin instructor of Stephens College, all of Columbia.

Centerview P. T. A. Elects Officers

New officers were elected by the Centerview P. T. A. at its regular meeting Friday night.

The officers are Mrs. Milton J. Marker, president; Mrs. Henry E. Logan, vice-president; Mrs. Otha E. Durrill, second vice-president; Mrs. Elmer Gardner, secretary; Mrs. Herman W. Cordes, treasurer; Mrs. Arno Chrisman, reporter; Mrs. Ernest Cordes, social chairman; Mrs. Marker, hospitality chairman and Mrs. Gardner, program chairman.

Mrs. Arno Chrisman, retiring program chairman, presented the following program:

"The Ten Commandments For Parents," Mrs. Thurman May.

Violin solo, "Drink To Me Only With ThineEyes," Dorothy Cordes, accompanied by Zelena McCurdy.

Vocal duet, "Cowboy's Heaven," Irene Woods and Zelena McCurdy.

Violin solo, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," Dorothy Cordes, accompanied by Zelena McCurdy.

Recitation, "Little Boy Blue and His Dog," Walter Gardner.

Piano solo, "Busy Bee March," Mona Rose Logan.

A social hour following, was spent in working jig-saw puzzles, and refreshments were served to the large crowd.

Mrs. Warren D. A. R. Hostess

Osage chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution met at the beautiful surburban home of Mrs. Glenn Warren Saturday afternoon, with a large attendance.

In addition to the several new members added to the chapter recently, Mrs. W. H. Highleyman, who has lately returned, with her husband, to Sedalia from residence in Kansas City, has renewed her membership, and attended the meeting Saturday.

It was reported that a number of prospective members are getting their credentials ready for affiliation.

Miss Nina Harris, the regent, presided, and various matters of business were taken up, including the report of the committee on Memorial avenue that encouraging progress is being made there.

The national D. A. R. magazine was ably reviewed by Miss Nettie Lamm. Miss Lamm pointed out that it is an execellent periodical that would interest the general public.

Carrying out the year's program on deffernet phases of Colonial life, Miss Harriet Guild read an interesting paper on "How Colonial Women Spent Their Days," showing that they were indeed women of great executive ability to have carried on all the various industries that have been taken off the hands of present-day women by labor-saving machinery.

Delicious refreshments were served after the program, and the social meeting was greatly enjoyed.

Attended Recital

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Claycomb, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Menefee and Mrs. D R Powell, all of Hughesville, drove to Fulton Thursday night, to attend a recital given by Misses Marjorie Claycomb and Janice Mitchell in the auditorium at William Woods college

Miss Claycomb is majoring in speech and Miss Mitchell in music. This is Miss Claycomb's second year in William Woods.

Mrs. William Lierman and son, Richard William, of Osborne, Kas., guests of Mr. Lierman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lierman, of this city. They will also visit Mrs. Lierman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Snorgrass, of Jefferson City.

Dual Meet By Extension Clubs

Mrs. Claire Montgomery spoke on hospital service for rural Pettis county and urged all farmers to consider this project favorably, at a meeting of the Maplewood and Striped College Homemakers clubs last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Luther Landis, of route five.

Assistant hostesses were Mrs. Walter Banning, Mrs. M. O. Stevens and Mrs. Edwards.

The morning session was opened by Mrs. J. W. Rissler, president of the Maplewood club. The news letter was read, and reports of the club officers were read and approved.

Roll call response was to name a bird and tell whether it is man's friend or enemy and why.

The after dinner session was presided over by Mrs. Fisher, president of the Striped College club. She turned the program over to the project leaders who were Mrs. Arnest and Mrs. Dabuer for Striped College and Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Ellis for Maplewood. Their project was "Yard Improvement."

They stressed the importance of cleaning yards, screening unsightly covers and planting systematically. The goals proposed were neat yards and lawns and continual bloom from early spring until frost.

Several members consented to give home demonstrations of some subjects either at their own homes or at the homes of other members.

Score cards or sheets were given to members for scoring their yards and improvements.

An entertaining program was given by Mrs. F. W. Barrick, Mrs. Arnest, Mrs. White and Mrs. T. C. West. There were songs, poems and guessing games. Thirty members and six visitors were present.

The April meetings will be on each clubs' regular dates and at the homes of members as listed in the yearbook.

Modern Philosophies Is Sorosis Subject

Dr. Frederick E. Kirker, of Marshall, will be the guest speaker on the Sorosis program Monday afternoon at the Heard Memorial clubhouse. Charles W. Green, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, was the original scheduled speaker, but found that it was necessary for him to be out-of-town on the date set.

Dr. Kirker's subject will be "Modern Philosophies As They Affect World Conditions." Dr. Kirker, who is associated with Missouri Valley college, has made a careful study of present day trends, and is an interesting speaker on current topics.

Mrs. A. S. Wright, chairman of Mr. and rMs.E dlonSSddH-x ment, is in charge of the program.

Play Contest At S-C High School

Pettis county's annual community play contest will be held at Smith-Cotton high school Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week, the winning play to compete in a state contest.

There will be three placings in the contest, and outstanding characters will be chosen from all casts.

Six communities are entered. Tuesday night Dresden, Quisenberry and Maplewood will be on the program; Wednesday night Bois d'Arc, Smithton and Hughesville. In the quartette contest there are entrants from Smithton Hughesville, LaMonte and Longwood.

Doors will not open until 6:30 o'clock each night and the plays start promptly at 8:30 o'clock. Late comers will not be seated during plays.

Bowling Green Club Meeting

The Bowling Green community club met at the hall Friday. After a short business meeting led by President E. R. Thomson, A. H. Wilk, manager of the Metropolitan Insurance Co., of Sedalia, gave a very instructive talk on "Safety in the Home." Statistics show that a large proportion of accidents occur in the home, he said. Judge E. W. Couey then spoke of the work of the legislature in Jefferson City, dwelling especially on the work of the appropriation committee of which he is a member.

The program was in charge of the educational committee, Mrs. J. B. Ellison chairman. This committee is sponsoring safety talks and other educational features. The committee is very appreciative of these talks with their educational values.

Pupils Entertain For Teacher

The pupils of Smelser school, with the co-operation of their parents, gave a surprise birthday party for their teacher, Miss Miriam Nell Rages, Thursday afternoon.

Miss Vivian McCurdy baked the birthday cake which was decorated in appropriate candy lettering. Mrs. A. C. Runge made the ice cream and the other parents furnished cookies and candy.

Evelyn French, a seventh grade pupil, supervised the arranging of the table with the cake in the center and the gifts at the plate of the guest of honor.

Children At Party At Stonelea

Heads Auxiliary

Mrs. G. L. Schmidt, 1409 South Prospect avenue, temporary chairman of the Women's Auxiliary of the Pettis County Conservation Federation, pending election of permanent officers.

Visiting Relatives

Mrs. Roy Rains, Jr., and son, Roy III, of San Francisco, Calif., who are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omar Cochran and Mr. Rains' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Rains, in Versailles.

• Personals

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Arnold, 610 West Third street, have returned from a two weeks visit in St. Louis.

Mrs H. H. Deal and son, Jack, of 646 East Tenth street, left Friday to spend the week end with Miss Mina Deal in St. Louis.

Walter Baumgartner, of Kansas City, spent Wednesday night with his mother, Mrs. Ida A. Baumgartner, 407 West Tenth street. On Thursday they went to Jefferson City and on Friday Mr. Baumgartner returned to his home.

Miss Mary Beth Albers, of Kansas City, spent the week-end in Sedalia, the guest of her friend, Miss Bette Lamm.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Stovall, of Memphis, Tenn., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank York, 511 West Second street, over the week-end. Mrs. Stovall is the sister of Mr. York. This is Mrs. Stovall's first visit to Sedalia in 25 years. She was formerly Myrtle York.

Fishermen use a leaf from an automobile spring to pry abalones from their wave-swept rocky homes.

One valet took care of 500 changes of dress in the wardrobe of King George V of England.

Howard Shoup, Hollywood designer, thinks this dress which he created for Fay Bainter is the ideal type for mature figures. Beautifully fitted through the middle, it has a rather high neckline, squared shoulders and a softly full skirt.

Garden Circle One Entertains Many Guests

Circle No. one of the Sedalia Garden club met Friday at the home of Mrs. E. F. Yancey, with Mrs. L. H. Archias, Mrs. V. H. Winnberg and Mrs. W M. Johns assisting.

Large vases of spring flowers and snapdragons made the rooms especially attractive.

Guests of the afternoon were the chairmen of the other five circles, Mrs. C. L. Carter, Mrs. C. F. Hert, Mrs. J. N. Keens, Mrs. A. H. Wilks and Mrs. Arthur McGowan, and Mrs. Ed Bosserman, of El Paso, Tex., Mrs. C. E. Messerly, Jr., Mrs. J. M. Hinman, Mrs. W. F. Keyser and Miss Laura Johns.

The program was under the direction of the conservation committee, in charge of Mrs. Ed Heffernan. A motion was passed to purchase a quantity of the conservation stamps which were offered for sale, the proceeds of which will be used to further conservation work in the state.

Mrs. Heffernan and Mrs. W. P. Tucker both read excellent papers on Conservation.

Mrs. E. H. Hildebrandt announced that the Junior Garden club members are making colorful posters for the Sedalia Garden club flower show to be held this spring.

She also reported that the Juniors are busily planning a wild flower pilgrimage the first of April.

The circle's usual one o'clock luncheon preceded the program.

Garden circle No. 2 will meet at the home of Mrs. Leon Archias, Jr., 508 South Park avenue, Tuesday afternoon, March 28, for a 1 o'clock dessert luncheon. Members are urged to take forced bulbs for exhibition.

One of life's mysteries: why automobile license plates for the year usually come so late that we're already looking toward a new one.

Heated Debate In The House On Parity Bill

bertson shouted. He added he thought he and Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.) were in charge for the Republicans because they were members of the agriculture appropriations sub-committee.

Defeat Adding Fund

Democrats fought among themselves over a proposal by Rep. Kleberg (D-Tex.) to add $460,000 to the fund for pink bollworm control. It finally was defeated by a 138 to 66 vote.

After Republicans succeeded in knocking out provisions for $160,460 for Mexican fruit fly control and $13,485 for citrus canker eradiction on the ground the expenditures had not been authorized, Rep. Tarver (D-Ga.) popped up with the announced intention of "putting the shoe on the other foot" and raised a point of order against a $100,000 item for Dutch elm disease control.

Tarver subsequently withdrew the point of order but Lembertson countered immediately by raising the same point and it was sustained, eliminating the fund.

Leaders of the opposing blocs concentrating on the parity payments issue sought to unite their forces.

Tarver warned approval of the proposal to increase the fund to $500,000,000 meant ultimate defeat for the program.

He charged Republicans intended to vote for the increase only because they knew its adoption would result in a parliamentary situation which would make it impossible for the house to vote directly on the $250,000,000 item. Then, Tarver explained, both Republicans and conservative Democrats would be forced to vote down the entire $500,000,000.

"A half loaf is better than no bread," Tarver shouted, in response to questions from Rep. Cooley (D-NC). "If the gentleman wants to vote for $500,000,000 and get nothing, that's his privilege."

Strength Everlasting:

The most powerful and subtle of natures weapons of destruction is the chemical action of oxygen in the ground, vividly demonstrated by the corrosion and ultimate destruction of the finest steel. Other metals such as Copper and Zinc serve only to delay the process of oxidation.

However, against Concrete, oxygen falters and fails in its process of destruction.

It has been demonstrated beyond a question of doubt that no other material known to man, has its equal in resisting the action of the elements or the passage of time. Today billions of tons of concrete form our Giant skyscrapers, super highways, subways, fortifications etc, in fact all works of man where endurance, strength and ability to withstand strain stress or shock and immunity to the elements are of prime importance.

Thus Concrete was chosen for the building of the "ARISTOCRAT" to provide that enduring protection so long desired in a Vault for Underground Burial.

Every time the call comes into your family and you have occasion to purchase a Burial Vault you pay for the "ARISTOCRAT", Why not have one? Your Funeral Director can supply you with this perfect Vault for underground Burial Protection.

Expect Il Duce Speech To Be

benswillen) of our two peoples and to shake the peace of the world."

Hitler dispatched this message as the world, seeking some clue to Italy's true intentions in the Medierranean, anxiously awaited Il Duce's speech.

While Italy's demands on Fance have been hanging fire for months, the swift moving Nazi machine stepped forward and in less than two weeks expanded German frontiers to include Bohemia and Moravia and Memel.

Doubt Verbal Bomb-Shells

Meanwhile Mussolini sat back without uttering a word. The world wondered when the Italian end of the Rome-Berlin axis would seek to cash in on its membership in this important partnership.

However, diplomats who intended to hear Mussolini tomorrow expressed confidence Il Duce would refrain from verbal bombshells.

They expected him to reaffirm his partnership with Hitler in the Rome-Berlin axis, perhaps to denounce the hospitality of the democracies to Fascist methods and possibly to declare himself again for "peace with justice"—the axis formula for territorial expansion.

But they looked for nothing that would further complicate the nervous situation in Europe as a whole and particularly for nothing that would complicate the prospects, however nebulous they may be, of settlement of Italy's claims on France for colonial advantages.

Persistent reports of republican Spain's imminent surrender to the Nationalists caused political circles here to await the speech tomorrow with more eagerness. They thought it possible occupation of Madrid might be timed for tomorrow morning so Il Duce could announce it first, largely as another victory largely won by Italian troops.

While nothing official has been disclosed concerning moves toward a diplomatic settlement of the French-Italian quarrel, many observers believed Mussolini would be willing to talk terms.

Italians also breathed easier because of what they considered to be the failure of an attempt in London and Paris to form a "stop Hitler" front, which Fascists said would be aimed against them.

told all, I feel better, but I shall never have the mental peace I knew before."

Cunningham was arrested Monday after Mr. and Mrs. Joel P. Stokes, stepfather and mother of the missing woman, became alarmed over her disappearance. He steadfastly denied he had harmed his wife, until early this morning when Morris confronted the nervously-pacing prisoner in his cell.

"I just backed him up in a corner," the county attorney said, "and I said to him:

"Now you're not going to let that dear old lady (Mrs. Stokes) choke to death with the lump in her throat that she has from not knowing what became of her daughter, are you?'

"I just kept boring that question into him, and as it turned out, that choking process was just what he had done to his wife."

After three hours of grilling, Cunningham broke and wrote this statement:

"Monday night, March 6, at 7:30 p. m. I strangled my wife, Eudora, and buried her in a partly filled sewer between Eleventh street and Park Place in the 3600 block. May God have mercy on my soul."

tions.

All of these services have been an invaluable aid to the Pettis County Society. Through the Vocational Rehabilitation Service many crippled children and young adults have received Vocational Training. All of those under the supervision of this service whether they are in training, in employment, or if they are possibly candidates for Vocational Training, should visit the Clinic.

Another valuable function of the Pettis County Society is educational so that all parents and all communities may receive the benefits of this service which gives crippled children and those who might become crippled without early adequate care every opportunity for treatment and rehabilitation.

Urge Amending Wagner Act

NEW YORK, March 25—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers urged amendment of the Wagner labor relations act today on eight counts.

The association also said the purpose of the act, to protect collective bargaining by voluntarily chosen representatives of workers was "thoroughly justified."

In a statement the N. A. M. said its position was that labor friction would continue "so long as the law places restraints upon one party x x x and leaves the other party free of all restraint x x x and until the right of free association on the part of employers and freedom of action on their part so long as they do not commit unfair practices is recognized, x x x and unless all persons stand equally before the law and the administrative agencies."

The eight points, paraphrased, were:

1. Recognize "unfair practices" by others than employers as obstructions to interstate commerce.
2. The National Labor Relations Board should confine its unionization activities to protection of the right of employes to organize and bargain through representatives of their own choosing.
3. Prohibit "interference, restraint and coercion" against employes from any source.
4. Prohibit the "closed shop" and the "check off."
5. Protect employers by describing minimum standards of conduct for unions.
6. Reiterate the right of free speech between employers and employes.
7. Restrict power of the board to favor national or international unions as against local unions.
8. Assure fair trial and adequate court review to all accused of violating any provisions of the law.

To Negotiate On Border Dispute

BUDAPEST, March 25—(AP)—The Hungarian and Slovak governments agreed tonight to settle by negotiation their frontier dispute which brought land and air forces into conflice.

A Slovak commission is scheduled to come to Budapest Monday to fix the border between German-protected Slovakia and Carpatho-Ukraine, Czecho-Slovak province annexed by Hungary.

(A dispatch from Iglo, Slovakia, said air and land fighting were reported continuing in the Ung River Valley, a key zone in dispute. squadron based on Iglo (Spisska Nova Ves) left to bomb Kosice (Kassa) in retaliation for a Hungarian air attack Friday on Iglo in which authorities said 10 civilians were killed and 27 wounded. Anti-aircraft guns were mounted on Iglo roofs.

(Semi-official sources in Bratislava, Slovak capital, earlier had reported an armistice was ordered Friday night and both sides were holding their position pending diplomatic negotiations.)

Wounds Two Trying Holdup

ST. LOUIS, March 25—(AP)—Two men attempting what would have been the ninth holdup in 10 years at Harold Davidson's drug store were shot and seriously wounded by the proprietor.

As they started out with their loot, Davidson, who got tired of being robbed and took sharpshooting lessons from the police department, grabbed a gun and wounded both. One fell, and Davidson overpowered the other.

At City hospital they were identified by Police Lieut. Michael P. Flavin as James Edelman, 28, a WPA project foreman, and Robert James Johnson 38, WPA worker and father of four children. Eldelman was shot in the abdomen, Johnson in the stomach.

Prominent Stockman Dies From Unexplained Injuries

MARCELINE, Mo., March 25—(AP)—John Allen, 49, a horse trader in Kansas City many years, died in a hospital today from head and chest injuries he was unable to explain to physicians.

He walked into the hospital Thursday after leaving Kansas City for New York with a carload of polo ponies. His mother, Mrs. Alice Allen of Kansas City, arrived today but her son was not in condition to tell her what happened.

Allen was widely known among Missouri stockmen.

hold an inquest Monday in the death of John Gawthrop, 20, the bank teller Durand pushed before him as a shield against the fire of townspeople into the bank door.

Gawthrop was killed by a bullet fired in the barrage leveled by the embattled townspeople when Durand tried an escape he himself knew would fail.

Durand evidently holed up in the willow-covered bottom of Bitter Creek from the night, March 16, when he shot two officers at his parent's ranch, until he kidnapped a ranch couple last Tuesday night.

The hideout was 3 miles northeast of Powell and less than a mile from Durand's home.

Coroner Easton said he believed two sisters of Durand would come to the funeral. They were Mrs. Ida Mae Harkins of Belfry, Mont., former school teacher, and Mrs. Lora Sunderwaite, a farm wife, living near Nevada, Mo.

Starts Youth To College

DENVER, March 25—(AP)—The death of Earl Durand in Powell, Wyo., yesterday started another Wyoming youth on his way to college.

Tipton Cox, 17, who shot the desperado in front of a bank he was attempting to rob, was in Denver tonight on his way to New York, where he will broadcast on a national radio program (We, the People), at 8 p. m. (CST) Tuesday.

Cox said any money he received for the broadcast would be used for a college education. He wants to study aviation designing.

Polish Troops At Danzig Frontier

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, March 25—(AP)—Polish troops estimated by Germans to number "more than 10,000" today took positions in the Polish harbor city of Gdynia on Danzig's western frontier.

Although Polish officials declined comment, semi-official German sources said they had confirmed reports of Polish troop movements which also had been received by the United States consulate-general and other foreign consulates.

The troops were said to have been moving in small groups up through the Polish corridor, which gives Poland a Baltic outlet and separates East Prussia from the rest of Germany.

There also were unconfirmed reports of German troop concentrations in East Prussia and along the corridor's western frontier.

Danzig citizens, wondering "when does our turn come?" in Adolf Hitler's map re-making, showed little excitement over the military reports. They were more concerned, however, with Poland's order withdrawing surplus railway equipment from Danzig and the corridor which they feared would hamper shipping activities.

Strikes 400 Off Georgia Payroll

ATLANTA, March 25—(AP)—Governor E. D. Rivers struck more than 400 names from the state payroll today in the first of a series of moves designed to bring his "little new deal" spending more nearly in line with actual revenue.

"I am scaling down the salary schedules—especially in the higher bracket pay—and cutting personnel in other departments," he said.

He expressed disappointment at the refusal of the legislature, which adjourned last week, to find $8,500,000 additional tax money he asked to carry on his program.

Legislators fought off all efforts to alter either existing taxes or the $96,000,000 state budget in force in 1937.

Soph's Win School Title

Smith-Cotton Crown "Snatched" In Close Fight From Juniors; Score of 17 to 16

In one of the best played and most thrilling games on the Smith-Cotton high school court Friday night, the Sophomores barely "nipped" the Junior class team to win the school basketball championship. The score at the end of the game was Sophomores 17, Juniors 16.

The game was a "nip-and-tuck" affair from the very start. First quarter ended with the score Sophomores 3; Junior 2. At the end of the first half the Sophomores had 7 and the Juniors 4. A comeback was staged in the third quarter by the Juniors, who sailed in with seven points while the Sophomores scored 4 to tie up the game at the end of the third quarter. The last quarter found the two teams battling for the leading points, first the Sophomores scored, only to be tied up by the Juniors, and finally the quarter ended with the Sophomores scoring six points to give them a game total of 17, while the Juniors were able to collect only five points for a total of 16.

Both teams were under the coaching instructions of high school players, and their playing throughout the entire contest proved their interest in the interclass tournament, and desire to make a good showing for their coaching staff.

For second place honors the losing team had to play the winning team of the Senior and Freshman Eighth Grade game, which team was the Seniors.

Seniors Runnersup

Having overplayed themselves in the championship game the Juniors were unable to withstand the attack of the tall and lanky Seniors, who had more than an hour's rest between their game with the Freshmen and the final contest. The Seniors took second place honors by handing the Juniors a terrible tromping by a score of 35 to 13.

The Seniors didn't spare feelings in their game with the underclass teams when they sent the Freshmen to the showers beaten 28 to 13 in the opening contest.

All Tournament Team

It was a hard job in the selection of an All Tournament team, each boy on the four teams displaying good headwork during their play and at the same time showing excellent sportsmanship.

After much consideration the following ten players were named on the team: Forwards, Herrick, Junior; T. J. Carver, Freshman; Thompson and Weller, both Sophomores; Centers, Patton, Junior and Hill, a Senior; Guards, Gardner, Sophomore, Sanders, Junior, B. Hayes, Freshman and Finnell, Senior. Gardner was also named captain of the team.

Schoolboy Rows Is Making His Comeback

LAKELAND, Fla., March 25—(AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, striving for a major league comeback ,worked five innings in today's exhibition game and was credited with the Detroit Tigers' 7-4 thumping of the Cincinnati Reds. Rowe permitted four runs, one unearned, and three hits.

The Schoolboy also had power at the plate, getting a double and a triple in two appearances.

Carter USC Track Star

Sedalian Considered Among Best High Jumpers On Coast

George Carter, a senior in the University of Southern Californiafi and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. DeJarnette, 520 West Second street, is sailing high with the U. S. C. track team. Reports from the West Coast are to the effect Carter is one of the outstanding high jumpers on the West Coast this season.

"Jeepers, creepers! Where'd you get those leapers?" is the cry of the coaches on the coast when they meet Dean Cromwell's track team from U. S. C. At least the California aggregation is noted for its high jumpers and especially Carter who soars over the cross bar at better than six feet five.

Carter is among a class of leapers who all go over the bar at six feet, one of who is John Wilson, a sophomore of U. S. C., who has recorded a height of six feet seven.

Fox Hounds Take Jefferson City

JEFFERSON CITY, March 25—(AP)—Several hundred yelping fox hounds ran helter skelter through the capital city's business district today in hot pursuit of an old fox hide.

The drag race was a feature of the Missouri Fox Hunters' Association meeting. Forty owners put their dog packs into the race which started from the capitol, circled through the business district and wound up on the capitol grounds—a one-dog finish.

Dr. Forrest Thomas, of Fulton, was elected president of the Association. Other officers named were Walter Harrison, Fulton, first vice-president; A. H. Allison, St. Louis, second vice-president, and L. F. Gingery, Rushville, secretary.

"Major Bowes," owned by Owen Turnbull, of Troy, Mo., was judged grand champion hound at the bench show.

Coach Donald Davenport, under whom Carter began his track career, told of how George began with the hope of some day making the Olympic team, and his heart has been set on this for a number of years. "Each year George gets better and better," Davenport said.

"As a matter of fact he is one of three trackmen who I coached in high jump, who has successfully beaten the 6-foot mark. The other two are Paul Meyers, now attending the University of Missouri and Walter Fisher.

"Incidentally, he was one of the best basketball centers that has gone through Smith-Cotton, and until he injured his ankle he was on an average of fifteen points a game. George made the U. S. C. freshman basketball team, but was kept from continuing in this sport by the track coaches of the University. As I understand he was too good a track man to take chances on him getting hurt in basketball," Davenport concluded.

Thirty-Five In Spring Football

Sixty Boys Are Expected To Report Monday Afternoon

Thirty-five football practice suits were "checked-out" Friday afternoon by Coach Donald Davenport, to boys who are interested in beginning spring training. It is expected at least twenty-five more boys will obtain equipment Monday, Davenport indicated.

It is expected that between four and five weeks of good hard training will be sandwiched in between now and the end of school during which time five or six good plays will be "soaked-in" by the youngsters who expect to work for the Tiger team this fall.

No doubt there will be plenty of winter stiffness in the boys and sore muscles will be had by many of them during this first week of play. Several of the football prospects will not be in the spring practice as they are working on the track team, but will be in condition for fall training. These boys are mostly players from last year and who, although they could use the training, will not be as handicapped as those reporting at the present time.

Davenport also announced a spring game will be played between "spring recruits" and the football players who are graduating from school this year.

Track Problems

An inter-team track meet will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday by Track Coach Jimmy Obermiller, to single out a team to represent the Smith-Cotton Tigers in the Missouri State High School Indoor Meet at Columbia on Saturday, April 1.

Obermiller has appointed Tommy Sanders as captain of one team and Ray Rayl as captain of the other. Results of this meet will determine a great deal on the selection of the members to be on the school team.

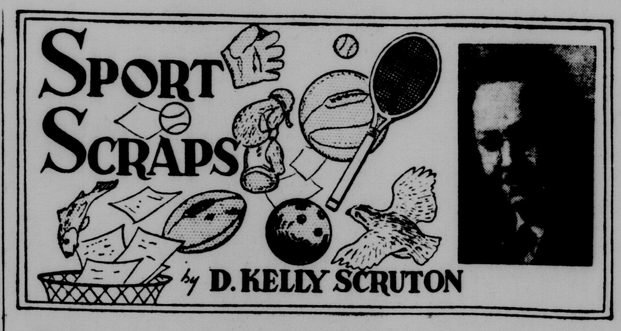
Eleven or twelve boys will make the trip, but regardless of this team, other boys cut might possibly eliminate those first selected. Obermiller announced those showing up best in the school meet and in practice will be chosen from time to time.

There appears to be plenty of good material this spring, and Sedalia should have a good record at the indoor meet, also at the Central Missouri conference meet at Hannibal later in the season.

Tennis Is Showing Up

A Tiger tennis team is expected to be very good this year under the instruction of Burney Morriss, who has more than fifteen boys on the courts during the week. There are several outstanding players in school who are finding it hard to keep up with some of the new material.

Morriss expects to announce a tennis team within the next three weeks, one which will represent Sedalia at the conference meet.



COMPLAINTS are starting to pour into The Democrat-Capital sports department asking something be done to improve the tennis courts in Sedalia, to give what players that are here an opportunity to properly continue tennis activities and organize a town team to represent Sedalia over the state.

Only last year the WPA went to extremes to rebuild the courts at Liberty Park, and for a time they appeared to be "tops," but when experienced players went into action, they declare, found them wrongly constructed. According to reports given me they are six inches higher at the net than at each base line. This throws the player off his game, in-as-much as he is compelled, more-or-less, to play uphill, although it is only a gradual slope.

I am told the reason for this construction was so water would drain easily, but this also has resulted in a poorly constructed court, one which cannot be successfully used for team competition.

Tennis authorities declare the courts should not be played upon if they are damp as this dampness will ruin the rackets used in play, as the balls will not respond actively, hence the courts must actually be dry. As a matter of fact the courts to be honest-to-goodness competition courts should be constructed on the all-weather type and level throughout, then is case of bad weather will absorb all water in a short time.

It was also suggested a weed burner be purchased to burn out vegetation. This will do much to rid the courts of grass and weeds which "spring up" almost immediately after a shower, or rain. This instrument could be placed to good use at the baseball park on the ball diamond, and other places where grass and weeds are not desired.

This is no criticism of the Park Board, but the WPA should reopen the play ground project and put the tennis courts into proper condition so they can be put to good use. They are useless at the present time.

IT has been brought to my attention by several members of the Sedalia Tennis Club to calling together all members and laying out a plan for organizing the club for this year. Also a plan is being discussed to advocate better courts and to add to the financial support of courts which are built, which I believe an excellent idea.

There are not less than fifteen good tennis players in the high school, and I am reliably informed there are at least twenty-five players not in school who desire to take up the sport for exercise purposes.

With the school courts being in such terrible condition as they are now and the Liberty Park courts needing attention, something must and should be done immediately to better conditions

IT was rather disheartening to attend the Pettis County Conservation Club banquet, the past week, and see such a small attendance, when by all means the banquet room should have had an overflowing crowd to hear such a speaker as Arthur L. Clark, chief of the division of fish, game and forests of the Missouri Conservation Commission.

However, it cannot be blamed entirely on the committee in charge as the decision for the annual banquet was decided upon only a few days prior to Wednesday night, and it was almost impossible for the ticket committee to reach everyone who might be interested.

Mr. Clark's remarks covered a multitude of activities of the commission, but due to the small crowd and the fact that several of those in attendance had to leave before his speech because of various other gatherings, his talk was cut short. His explanatory talk on wildlife in general throughout the entire state deserved a much larger audience. It was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

FRED Yeager, former Columbus baseball player, and who has seen experience with the American Association club to the tune of thirty or more games, and has played organized baseball with Beatrice. Neb., and other clubs, has come to Sedalia to make his home with his father, G. C. Yeager, custodian at the Missouri State Fair grounds.

Yeager is very anxious to see Sedalia organize a twilight league with six or eight teams participating. He has even gone so far as to offer his service in handling the club without remunemation.

He has accepted a position with the Thompson Chevrolet Motor Company, and expects to make Sedalia his home.

He began his baseball career as a pitcher with the University of Alabama, advanced from there into organized baseball, but has since retired due to an arm injury.

Yeager's remarks should be well taken. "Old heads" should step down from the semi-pro game and give the youngsters an opportunity to advance. Let the fans see a real hustling ball club, which can only be given through younger ball players.

ALLEN O'Bannon, one of Pettis county's best known fishermen and hunters, has placed among his souvenirs an old hunting cap, made of corduroy, which was purchased in October of 1905, from Eugene Pallette, famous motion picture actor.

O'Bannon went into the clothing store of Barnes and Kem, at which place Pallette, as a boy, worked as a clerk, to obtain a hunting cap, and a sales talk supreme was delivered by Pallette which caused Mr. O'Bannon to purchase it. For thirty-three years he has worn it, but last fall put it away among his other relicts and bought another.

Pallette resided in Sedalia several years.

Begin Weekly Ball Practice

Sand lots over town are finding some of the youngsters out playing baseball, apparently desiring to form neighborhood independent ball clubs while others are planning on grade school teams to compete against each other between now and the time school is out.

From these sand lots come some of the best material for the semi-pro baseball clubs such as is being formed by Manager Vincent A. Seigel, of the Sedalia merchants.

Today will start the daily training of semi-pro ball players at the Liberty park and Manager Seigel expects to see more than fifty ball players, out in their old clothes, showing their stuff.

The "weeding process" will not start until after several days of practice has been held and each and every ball player has had an opportunity to display his playing ability.

Players are coming from Windsor, Smithton, Beaman, LaMonte, Cole Camp, to endeavor to make the semi-pro club being formed. This team will enter into the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress competition this year and play in the state regional tournament.

Players are requested to report by 2 o'clock this afternoon, and after 4:30 o'clock week-day afternoons.

Little Sprays His Shots But Keeps Score Low Enough

Golden Glove Prospects Are Good

Athletic Clubs Are Being Formed In Central Missouri

Prospects for one of the largest Golden Glove competitions are in store for 1939-40, in accordance with the "after-tournament" interest being shown, not only in Sedalia, but in surrounding towns, such as Versailles, Marshall, Lexington, Slater and Warrensburg.

Versailles has already organized the Versailles Athletic Club, composed of business men of the town and boys of the ages of 16 up. The purpose of the club is to stimulate more interest in boys athletics, especially amateur boxing.

The past week election of officers of the club was held and Lloyd "Boots" Bond was chosen president. C. J. Harris, Versailles welterweight was chosen as vice-president; Roy Otten, publisher of the Versailles Leader was chosen secretary-treasurer, and Al Brown elected association manager.

The organization now boasts of more than twenty members and as soon as plans are completed the officers expect to have a membership of not less than thirty-five, the majority to be boys who will train for amateur boxing. A smoker held a week ago brought about a full house and netted the organization a small amount of money to begin purchasing equipment.

Cooperation between the association and the Versailles high school will be very evident, each helping the other in putting over their various athletic programs.

At Marshall, Jess Hayslip, who trained several Negro boxers for the Central Missouri tournament, plans on bringing together a similar club such as Versailles. Hayslip has written the sports department of The Democrat-Capital for assistance in bringing together these people and will hold a smoker at Marshall in a short time, presenting several boxers who have been training under him.

Mr. Hayslip plans on training a large number of boys through the summer months and this fall will begin holding amateur bouts for the purpose of obtaining funds to arrange for indoor training quarters and to purchase equipment for the boxers.

Indications at present show there are more than fifteen boys already interested in his project and hope to go far in amateur boxing this year.

Similar plans are being discussed by various boys at Slater, and apparently there will be not less than fifteen in that place entering into amateur boxing competition. An endeavor is also being made to interest the high school athletic officials in having boxing in the school.

Howard Peek, Lexington, Mo., father of Mark Peek, one of the outstanding featherweights of Missouri, is giving much consideration to forming such an athletic association in his home town. He has already several boys under his "wing" and giving them instructions, who he believes will make good showing in tournament competition.

This will bring into Sedalia two teams from that place, one coming from Wentworth Military Academy under the generalship of Captain Edgar Muench. Captain Muench is deeply interested in boxing and has produced several good boys at his school.

There is talk the Golden Gloves will be sponsored at Warrensburg by the Star-Journal newspaper, which paper's sports writers were rather disappointed the town was not represented in the Central Missouri tournament the past season.

Roy Wilcox, manager of the newspaper, indicated he would endeavor to bring together Warrensburg boys as well as getting some representation from the Central Missouri Teachers college.

New York Yankees "Nick" Paul Dean

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 25—(AP)—The New York Yankees nicked comebacking Paul Dean for three runs in the second inning today and went on to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 4. Dean, making his first start of the spring exhibition season, gave up only three hits in four innings, but they all came in the second.

John Bulla, Ralph Guldahl Have 139 To Be One Stroke Behind Leader

GREENSBORO, N. C. March 25—(AP)—Lawson Little of Bretton Woods, N. H., sprayed shots all over the course today but the 27-year-old former amateur champion kept his score low enough to remain in front of the field at the half way mark of the $5,000 Greensboro open golf tournament.

The San Franciscan did only a 73 on the second round, but that figure, added to his record smashing 65 of yesterday gave him a total of 138 blows and a one-strike lead.

John Bulla of Chicago and Ralph Guldahl of Madison, N. J., with 139s, were but a stroke behind.

The biggest advance during the day was made by Ben Hogan, the young pro from White Plains, N. Y. Hogan toured the Sedgefield course in 65 strokes today, to equal the course record set by Little yesterday With a 79 for his first round, he moved up from far back to a tie for 16th place at 144.

Harry Cooper of Chicago and Clayton Heafner, Greensboro pro, duplicated their opening round par 70s and were tied at 140 for third place with 140s, one stroke in front of Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I., Felix Serafin of Scranton, Pa., Denny Shute of Coral Gables, Fla.. and Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa.

Lloyd Mangrum of Los Angeles took a big jump by adding a fine 67, three under par, to go with his starting 77. This advanced him to a four-way tie for 12th place at 143.

Scores of 154 and under qualified for tomorrow's 36-hole finale, which will be played over the Starmount Forrest club course.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Oak Park, Ill., 73-73—146.

Leonard Dodson, Springfield, Mo., 77-75—152.

'Pup' Field Trials To Be Held Saturday

Annual Bird Dog Puppy Trials On Game Reserve

The annual Spring Puppy Trial sponsored by the Sedalia Field Trial Association, will be staged on the 8,000-acre game reserve in the Bahner community, Saturday, April 1, an announcement has been sent out to all bird dog owners.

The meet is being held with the cooperation of the Pettis County Conservation Club, which has done much to rehabit quail in this county and which has more or less supervised the game reserve.

Coperation between the local Field Trial Association and that of the Association at Sturgeon, Mo., is making it possible for a large number of puppies to be brought to Sedalia, and to continue on Sunday to Sturgeon in the second meet in Missouri.

Already J. C. Griffin, official of the association, has received inquiries and entries not only from dog owners in Missouri but from those residing in Nebraska, Oklahoma, Texas, Mississippi and Kansas.

There will be three stakes run: Open for all puppies born on or after January 1, 1938, regardless of wins or handler. Entry fee is $15 of which seventy per cent will be divided among the winners, first to receive fifty per cent, second thirty per cent, third twenty per cent.

Junior stake for puppies born on or after April 15, 1938, to be handled by amateur handler. Winners will receive trophies.

Senior stake for puppies born on or after January 1, 1938, to be handled by an amateur handler. Winners to receive trophies.

Frank See of Moberly and James I. Collins of Sedalia will be the officials to judge the stakes.

The road to the field trial will be well marked with red arrows out highway 65 to the turn off to Bahner, and the entire route will be so identified that those people desiring to attend can easily find the location without trouble.

Lunch will be served on the grounds.

Talk Be Given on "Vacation Bible School"

"The Daily Vacation Bible School" will be the subject of an address Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Associated Churches of Sedalia. The address will be by Mrs. Earl Davidson of LaMonte. The meeting will be at the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church at 7:30 p. m.

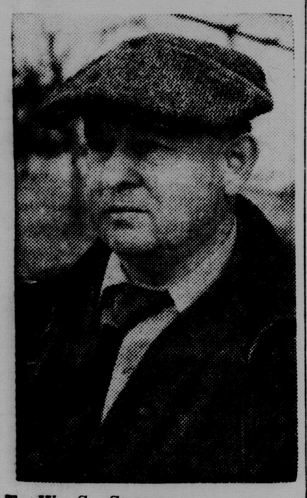
Exhibit From Missouri Be Magnificent

Display To New York Assembled In Sedalia

Constructed and assembled at the Misscuri State Fair grounds, the Missouri exhibit for the New York World's Fair was shipped east in a fleet of ten 50-foot freight cars, last week.

More than 1,000 crates have been used to transport the materials for the "Show-Me" state's display entitled "Romantic Missouri" to its setting in the Misscuri building at the New York Fair, to be viewed by millions. The design of the structure is similar to the one at the San Francisco Exposition, with the facade fashioned after the portico of the Ralls county ccurt house.



F. W. S. Sayers

Large murals by Missouri artists will decorate the walls of the great lobby. In the general exhibit room will be painted canvas panoramas — two are 85 feet long and 30 feet high — of Missouri landscapes, uniquely lighted dioramas that are three-dimensional views of prominent state scenes, immense highway and agricultural maps, displays of native rock and timber to be arranged in naturalistic settings, replicas of pioneer homes and buildings, and variegated booths featuring examples of state products and resources — all telling Missouri's story.

The chief purpose of the display in its entirety is to give a generalized perspective of this state.

To Setup Exhibit

F. W. S. Sayers, of Jefferson City, is the director of the exhibits for both fairs, and he is now in New York taking charge of the "setting up" of the Missouri exhibit, which will first be inspected by the public when the fair opens April 30.

Mr. Sayers has been with the state highway department for many years, and normally is with the roadside improvement division.

In his capacity as World's Fair director, he has had to keep hundreds of things in mind at once—voluminous pages of historical research, as well as agricultural, economic, educational, industrial and geographical statistics, and how to display them in a decorative and interesting manner to citizens of this country and representatives from foreign lands. Objects all the way from 12-inch dolls representing the historic women of Missouri to an 130-year old mill, complete with 250 feet of "manufactured" brook have claimed his attention.

For the last year nearly 100 persons have been under his direction at the fair grounds, including architects, artists, stenographers and construction crews.

The past has been blended with the present, with emphasis on the attributes possessed by the states today, these men and women have all had a part in the resultant pageant, which becomes its title, "Romantic Missouri."

Men Who Built Missouri Exhibits

The two groups represent the men who did the construction work on the Missouri exhibits for the New York and San Francisco world fairs, which were built at the Missouri State Fair grounds under WPA supervision. The lower picture shows the original group of workers. Claude King, shown in both pictures, served asforeman.

Helming Released After Paying $48.40

Waldo Helming, Summerfield, was released from the county jail Friday when he paid a fine and court costs and made good a bogus check, amounting to $48.40, in the justice court of W. H. Leslie.

Helming pleaded guilty Thursday to charges of giving a bogus check for $6 to Carl Case, a filling station operator on highway 50, and was committed to jail when he was unable to pay his fine.

The high court costs were caused by expenses incurred when Constable Forrest Poindexter went to Summerfield Tuesday to arrest Helming, a round trip of 315 miles.

Free Schooling On Credits

Under the auspices of the Sedalia Board of Education and the state department of education and in cooperation with the Sedalia Retail Credit Association, there is being offered to the Sedalia business people and their employes a series of three classes of instruction covering credits and collections.

All classes will be conducted by Mrs. James Saylor of Jefferson City, who has, in recent months, been in charge of similar schools of education throughout the state. All meetings will be held in the Ambassador room of Hotel Bothwell and will start promptly at 7:30 lasting until 9 o'clock.

The first class of the series will be held Thursday evening, March 30 and the following subjects, under the heading of "Securing New Business" will be taken up at that time. (1) Credit as a business force. (2) Obtaining applications for accounts. (3) Interviewing the applicant (staging the interview). (4) Interviewing the applicant (taking the application). (5) Investigating and analyzing the risk. (6) Accepting and declining applications.

All business and professional people and their employes are urged to take advantage of this free schooling, and be in attendance at all three sessions as there is no admission or charge of any kind.

Gospel Given As Solution

The principles and ideas of the Gospel, set forth by Christ, are the solution of our problems, said Rev. Joseph E. Brown, of Kansas City, at a banquet for boys and men at the East Sedalit Baptist church, Friday night, sponsored by the Men's Brotherhood with the Royal Ambassadors, which is the boys auxiliary as their guests.

Problems of war and some of the tendencies toward Communism and Fascism were stressed by Reverend Brown in his talk, "The Price Of Freedom In America", He is also editor of the Baptist church paper, "The Word And Way".

A male quartet, composed of Clyde Waters, Carl Yessen, Bob Wild and Aubrey Case, sang several numbers. Pep songs were given the group of about 100 men and boys who attended.

Preparation of the meal and the program and serving of the food was done by men and boys only.

Invocation was given by Rev. J. R. Sumners. Clyde Waters, president of the East Sedalia Baptist Men's Brotherhood, presided.

Debate Before Open Forum

"Can the United States Be Invaded" was the subject of an unjudged debate that featured the program at the Open Forum meeting at the county courthouse Friday night.

The affirmative side was taken by Sergeant Lester Bennett, U. S. Army Recruiting Service, and James W. Dale, a member of Battery F, 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guards. The negative side was upheld by the Rev. Oscar J. Rumpf, pastor of the Evangelical church, and Norman G. Moore, architect with the Missouri World's Fair exhibits and associated with the Peace Action Committee of St. Louis.

Arguments were based on the plausibility of an enemy fleet of sufficient strength gaining our shore-lines, the possibility and ultimate effect of bombing attacks by airplanes, whether land forces would be allowed to pass through either north or south borders, and the facilities of transportating such troops to either side of the continent.

Double Strength Needed

It was pointed out that an enemy nation would have to have twice the strength of our naval force to make an effective attack, and that such fleets lose approximately a third of their strength in maneuvering from their home bases to our shores.

Through figures it was also shown that a combination of three of the strongest foreign powers now have less than double our naval strength.

Statements were presented about our comparatively small standing army, the asserted inadequacy of coastal defenses, and the immobility of anti-aircraft equipment. On the other hand, it was argued that air-raids even made from nearby bases have not been able to deal war-winning blows elsewhere, and that attack by air is not completely successful, unless accompanied by large ground forces to take possession of the invaded territory.

Quote From History

The speakers quoted from historical precedents, articles from military and naval authorities and statesmen, and from various governmental statistics.

Preceding the debate a musical program was given by a small band, composed of high school students, under the direction of J. T. Alexander, of the high school music faculty.

Members of the band were J. T. Thompson, Andreas Kostelas, Charles Rucker, Floyd Henderson, Oscar Lee Scott, Harold Kueck, Ernest Stevens, Ferdinand Schutte and Howard Henderson.

J. Frost Waddell talked on the future of the public forums, which have been sponsored for five weeks by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. These plans will be announced at a later date.

Harry C. O'Neill presided over Friday night's meeting.

Negro Butler Foils Kidnapers

NEW YORK, March 25.—Police reported that the three-year-old granddaughter of Episcopal Bishop William T. Manning was saved from kidnaping Friday night by the butler in her home, who frightened away two would-be kidnapers after refusing a $1,000 bribe.

The child is Elizabeth Coale, daughter of Griffith B. Coale, an artist, who lives at 125 West 11th street in Greenwich Village.

Bishop Manning is leader of the 5,000-square mile diocese of New York, reputedly the wealthiest in his church; and is rector of the huge cathedral of St. John the Divine on Morningside drive.

Coale is the husband of the former Elizabeth Manning, one of the bishop's two daughters.

The butler who foiled the adduction was a negro, Thomas Wilson.

Stop Mourning A Market Lost Forever

We might as well face it.

The great European market, which took off our hands vast surpluses of farm products in the 1920s, is gone forever.

It never did exist, really, because during the World War the need was abnormal, and afterward the trade was largely supported by huge loans.

Ever since the war, men have been dreaming of the return to this market to a "normal" which never was normal. Desperate moves toward self-sufficiency by all European countries, the rise of new and competing producing areas, the walling up of trade areas by totalitarian countries—all these have combined to destroy a market which once took the products of 50,000,000 acres of American farm land.

Secretary Wallace admits that this market is gone forever. The present trade difficulty with Germany, while it will cut down German imports here, will also further reduce export of cotton, for which Germany was a good customer. Overwhelming surpluses of cotton will continue to pile up.

There are two ways of facing this problem. One is to develop, insofar as possible, markets in the western hemisphere to replace those lost in Europe. Secretary Wallace is hard at work on this, and it is possible that some good can be accomplished in this way. But it will take time, planning, and government money.

Another approach is more immediate and more direct. Farmers in one-crop areas are beginning to realize that the great European export market is lost for good.

There is not, and cannot be, any permanent future in producing for a market that is gone, despite any generosity the government can muster. More and more such farmers, directed by wise and forward-looking local leaders, especially in the south, are turning to crop diversification, raising vegetables, or dairying, to supply things now generally missing from the diet of the people.

A manufacturer who stubbornly went on building 42-cylinder automobiles that nobody could buy, and piling them up in a warehouse, would be considered cracked. But a farmer who continues to raise cotton and wheat that nobody can buy is just unfortunate.

More and more of them are thinking hard about raising things that people can buy. The soy bean has gone from a novelty into an important staple within 10 years. Many a farmer has found that well-tended woodland on his farm yielded him more than fields of unwanted crops. The domestic need for vegetables and dairy products in many regions has never been supplied at all.

Before the problem can be solved it must be faced. Realization that the European markets of the 1920s are gone forever is the first step.

• The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—The man most on the spot in Europe today is a quiet, square-shouldered French baker's son who used to ride his bicycle to and from the Palais Bourbon when he was first Minister of War.

Today he is not only Minister of War but Premier of France, and as such he is under pressure today far more than Neville Chamberlain, for the chief aim of Hitler, whether he moves east first or west, is to crush Germany's ancient enemy.

The life of Edouard Daladier has been strangely intertwined with the life of Adolf Hitler. They have come to grips before. It was one day after Hitler first became Chancellor of the Reich on January 31, 1933, that Daladier first became Premier of France.

France needed a strong man then. Germany got one and kept him. France had a succession of crises, government turnovers and new premiers, one after the other, until April 9, 1938, when Hitler achieved his then greatest triumph, the annexation of Austria. On the day following, France once again summoned the hard-boiled, hard-fisted son of a small-town baker to pilot her through approaching war clouds.

Inside Munich

The entire world knows how close France came to war when Hitler pulled his next crisis at Munich last October. But probably only a few know of the dramatic debate which attended it.

Chamberlain and Daladier had come to Munich expecting to sit down with Hitler and Mussolini in a sincere effort to straighten out the problem of Czechoslovakia and come to an understanding which would mean permanent peace. Originally, President Roosevelt, who had inspired the conference, suggested an eight-power gathering including Russia, Poland, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia, the country which had most at stake.

Instead Chamberlain and Daladier sat down opposite the two glaring dictators of Europe, and were forced immediately to listen to a harangue from Hitler. The German Chancellor waved his arms, walked the floor, scolded, fumed and raved. Obviously the fact that the leaders of two powerful democracies had been forced to come to him, forced to sit at his feet, was one of the great triumphs of his life. He made the most of it.

During his tirade Hitler laid down the terms of the Czech surrender, and borrowed verbatim the conditions which the Allies had dictated to Germany in 1918. He specified that the Czechs were to remove no personal property from Sudetenland, no clothing, no cattle, sheep, pigs, goats—and he went on to specify every detail, paraphrasing the terms of the World War armistice.

Chamberlain sat and listened.

Finally Daladier could stand it no longer. He jumped to his feet.

French Ultimatum

The exact words which he used were not taken down, and never will be known. But approximately what he said was this:

"Let us make sure that we get this straight. M. Hitler has laid down certain conditions. He wants this and this and that.

"Now let him, in turn, understand certain things. If he wants war, he can have it. France is ready to fight. Our army is mobilized and if Germany wants war she can have it tomorrow.

"France is accepting no ultimatums. We came here to negotiate. Instead we are handed an ultimatum. Until that ultimatum is withdrawn you can count France out of this discussion."

Then the under-sized Premier of France left the room.

He went out to a long anteroom adjacent to the conference hall. Field Marshal General Goering, Nazi Aviation Minister, leaped up and came running after him. For nearly an hour thereafter, Daladier paced up and down that anteroom, smoking cigarettes one after the other, lighting the tip of one from the butt of its predecessor.

Goering paced alongside, almost like a dog trying to keep up, obviously worried that Daladier would bolt the conference.

Later it developed that Mussolini was working on his axis partner, persuading him to withdraw his ultimatum, urging that the conference would attain its end without the withdrawal of France—and war.

Finally Hitler emerged. His manner had not changed, nor his tone of voice. But his words carried at least the semblance of an apology.

'I think you are completely unreasonable," he said, "but I withdraw what I said."

Daladier went back into the conference room.

French Preparedness

What would have happened had the squat, square-shouldered baker's son not returned to the conference room never may be known. It is known, however, that France was ready for war—in fact, expected war.

Ambassador Bullitt, visiting the French War Department at midnight the day before the Munich Conference invitations were sent, found the General Staff seated around a table waiting. Everything was prepared. The touch of a button would have launched French troops into action.

An atmosphere of complete calm pervaded the room. It was taken for granted that war was inevitable.

Bullitt reported to Daladier a late phone conservation he had had with President Roosevelt, who had sent a new appeal to Hitler and Mussolini.

"Please thank your President," replied Daladier, "but nothing can save the situation now. I want you to know, however, that no one has worked harder to prevent war than President Roosevelt."

This was 48 hours before Munich. So when Daladier told Hitler he could have war if he wanted it, he meant what he said.

Today France faces a Germany reinforced by all the equipment of the Czech army and fed by all the wheat and oil of Rumania and Hungary.

So Daladier may well wonder what would have happened had Hitler not given him that ill-mannered apology at Munich. France would have had the Czech army. It would have had Russia. Now it has neither.

On such small things sometimes hang the fate of nations.

American Foreign Policy—What It Is, And Why

To Be Consistent, U. S. Feels She Can't Withdraw From The Orient

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of five special columns by Bruce Catton, NEA Service correspondent in Washington, telling, for the first time, just what U. S. foreign policy is today—and why.

By BRUCE CATTON

WASHINGTON, March 25.—When Japanese bombers sank the U. S. gunboat Panay, in a river in China, many Americans' indignation was tempered by the thought: "Why were we keeping a warship there in the middle of an international quarrel, anyhow? Why don't we just pull out and come home, and let Japan and China fight their heads off if they want to?"

On the surface, it sounds like a logical question. But under the foreign policy followed by the American government—a policy dedicated to world peace and international good will—withdrawal from troubled China is one thing that this nation could not consistently or logically achieve.

A brief study of U. S. foreign policy as the State Department expounds it makes that clear.

First of all, the American policy is based on the belief that force should not rule in international affairs — that treaties should be respected, that changes in the international picture should be accomplished by peaceful negotiation, and that there should be equality of commercial opportunity for all nations everywhere.

Now what is happening in the far east is simply that one nation is trying to impose its will by force on another nation. It has given notice that it won't be bound by treaties beyond what suits its own convenience, and that it alone will decide what constitutes equality of commercial opportunity in China and what treaty rights there will be observed.

Everywhere or Nowhere

The administration view is that if America simply were to withdraw from China—to wash her hands of the whole matter and look the other way she would betray the fundamentals of her traditional policy. It would, in other words, be to surrender the principles of the sanctity of treaties, abstention from force, and equality of commercial opportunities. As Secretary Hull has remarked, the United States cannot stand for those things in half of the world only. If she doesn't stand for them in the far east she doesn't stand for them anywhere.

R. Walton Moore . . . Counselor of the State Department. He is close to Hull's ear.

Hence the question of withdrawal from China is not just a matter of counting the number of Americans resident in China, totaling the sum of American investments there and of American trade there and listing the number of such American institutions as missions, schools and hospitals. Reduce all of those things to cold figures and you can prove that it isn't worth while to protect them; but from the administration's viewpoint, from its interpretation of the significance of the foreign policy, your proof isn't revelant.

America's record in the far east has been consistent. The situation there has been complicated by the fact that for many years various nations enjoyed the right of extra-territoriality in China, and that various far eastern countries had consented to restrictions in tariff matters. These things were embodied in many treaties.

Must Stay In China

By negotiation and agreement, America altered and removed many of them—as, for instance, in the cases of Japan and Siam. It had also gone far along that line in the case of China, until the 1931 fighting began.

Now that fighting took place against a background which included the famous nine-power treaty. Basically, that treaty was simply an agreement for providing stability. It was to the open door principle what a statute is to constitutional law: it amplified and implemented it.

When the Sino-Japanese conflict began, the American government repeatedly appealed to both Japan and China for peaceful settlement, offering American help to that end, and offering to discuss with all the nations having an interest in the far east any reasonable and just proposals for modifying or eliminating existing treaty provisions.

Those appeals fell on deaf ears. There then faced the American State Department the duty of continuing to keep the record clear; of showing that America refuses to admit that its treaty rights or commercial opportunities can be abrogated by force, and of maintaining its position as to the sanctity of treaties generally and the necessity for peaceful settlements of international disputes.

To do that, America must "stay in China." Legitimate American interests there must be left there as long as the need which caused them to be put there continues to exist. Unlawful infringements of American rights there must be objected to.

This does not mean that America is going to fight Japan or anybody else. It does mean, as the State Department sees it, that the straight path to a peaceful, orderly world is best followed by supporting lawful activities abroad and by objecting to forceful interference with those activities.

The Power Of Imagination

Sunday, March 26 . . . I will pour out my spirit, . . . your old men shall dream dreams and your young men see visions. Read Joel 2:27-29.

A world of dreamers and visionaries does not now appeal to us. Like Mr. Gradgrind we are all for facts. But a world which permits age no dreams and youth no visions is pitifully poor. For our dreams and visions are all compact with imagination — and what is life without imagination?

It depends of course, upon the imagination. But at its best, imagination is a sharing of the divine creative spirit and without it we create nothing. It sees cities with alabaster towers undimmed by human tears, dreams the possible beyond the actual, touches the unachieved with summoning light. Nothing ever lays strong hold of life till imagination has possessed and glorified it. What is so much of the pity and tragedy of our present world but imagination gone wrong?

Prayer: Lord of our dreams and sharer with us of Thine own creative vision, help us to make our imaginations the ministers of goodness and purity, brotherhood and peace. Forbid that they should apparel the mean with splendor, the unkind and proud with glory. Ennoble our dreams and direct our visions until they become the evidence of the coming of Thy Kingdom and the bringers of its dawn. Amen.

● SERIAL STORY

'MRS. DOC' BY TOM HORNER

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The characters and situations in this story are wholly fictional.

* * *

Yesterday: Eric takes Emily to a party when Alan is called on an emergency case. As Alan leaves he drops a letter. It is from St. Louis and Dr. Peterson. It is four days old!

CHAPTER VIII

THE letter burned Emily's fingers, seared her heart. Mixed emotions of anger, of disappointment surged through her, leaving her trembling. She fought down an impulse to scream, strove valiantly to keep back her tears.

Without a word she turned, placed the letter on the mantel, resting it against Alan's pipe rack so that he would be sure to see it. Then she faced Eric.

"That's all he thinks of the greatest opportunity he'll ever have," she said bitterly. "He doesn't even read it!"

"Don't be too harsh," Eric said. "He's been busy, night and day. He probably stuck it in his pocket hurriedly and forgot all about it. He—"

"Don't try to defend him. There's no excuse for absolutely ignoring an offer of a job that will pay him twice as much as he earns here. It's just that he doesn't care. He doesn't care about his future, he doesn't care about me!"

"Now, now, Emily." Eric's tone was soft and soothing. "I'm sure as soon as Alan has a little more time, he'll consider the offer, probably accept it, if it would make you happy."

"Oh, no he won't. He's perfectly content to stay right here in Sumner, being just a country doctor. It doesn't matter to him that I have to go to parties alone, sit here at home alone for days and nights, never seeing anyone, never knowing anyone, never doing anything but answering that telephone and sending him away from me.

"I don't matter. I'm just his wife." Emily's chin was quivering. "The only thing he ever thinks about are his precious patients. I hate every one of them. I hate Sumner. Sometimes— Oh, Eric!"

She could keep back the tears no longer. Sobs shook her. Eric's arms were around her and she was crying, her face pressed into the yielding blackness of his coat.

"There, there," he said. He stared over the soft curls that crowned her head into the dancing flames. He wondered if she could feel his heart pounding, if she could sense the electrifying thrill the nearness of her sent coursing through him. Gently, as if consoling a child who had bruised a finger, he talked, until the sobs grew fainter and fainter.

At last she raised her face to him. Her lips were close to his. Tears shone in her eyes. There was an instant of tense silence, then—

"You're a darling, Eric, and I'm just a spoiled brat, and I—I need a handkerchief!"

"ERIC, if you insist on giving away tricks, Dr. Farrell and I just have to beat you." Alan's laugh was hearty as he added up the score. The four—Emily, Alan, Eric, and Dr. Farrell—were seated at the bridge table, the night after the Maddox dinner party.

"Eric's not keeping his mind on the cards tonight," Dr. Farrell broke in. "What's wrong, son? Worried?"

"Frankly, yes, Dr. Farrell," Eric answered. "About the weather."

"What's wrong with the weather? Forecast says warmer,' Dr. Farrell replied. "After this snow, a little warm weather should be welcome."

"It probably is, to everyone but me," Eric said. "Personally, I'd like to have it stay cold for a while longer." He noted the unasked question in their eyes and went on to explain.

"It's about the dam. We had a heavy snowfall here, but farther north it was a record breaker for this time of year. Now, if we get rain and warm weather, all of this snow will run off, rather than soak into the ground, as it would do if the thaw was gradual."

"And what has all this to do with your dam?" Emily asked.

"It may make, or break it,' Eric said simply. "You see, we built a diversion dam about a half mile upstream before we started work on the main dam. This diversion dam is little more than a pile of rock and earth. Right now it is backing water a mile upstream. It's taking about all the pressure it can stand, and if the river starts to rise, it may go out.

"If it does, and all that flood comes pounding down the gorge, the new dam may go out too. We've got crews working day and night—24 hours a day—pouring gravel into that diversion dam, sandbagging the top; we're doing everything we can to save it. Every available man in the county has been put to work. If the thaw will hold off for 10 days more, we'll make it.

"Sumner and the lowlands are in no particular danger, right now," he added, noting Emily's alarmed expression. "The river, below the dam, is low, and can carry a good-sized flood without much trouble. Some of that low country right around the dam might get a few feet of water, but no one lives in there, so there's litle danger. We anticipated that."

"But you didn't anticipate a flood?" Farrell asked.

"We thought we had," Eric said. "We checked data on the river for years back and built accordingly—but we had no idea that there might be such a blizzard in March, or that it might be followed by rains and warm weather. Not in 50 years of weather records did we find anything that parallels it.

"But don't let me bother you with my troubles—you have enough of your own. And anyway, we're going to beat this river, snow or no snow, thaw or no thaw. We'll have that diversion dam sound enough to take 10 times all the water this snow can give us. All we need is a little time—and a little more cold weather."

ALONE in his hotel room, Eric Kane gazed at his reflection in the mirror and cursed it, softly but fervently.

"You can't even play bridge with her. She bids hearts—yours does a flip flop. She plays a diamond, and you stare at the one on her finger. You fool!"

He stretched full length on the bed, stared at the ceiling. He could close his eyes and see her face. That funny little grin that started at the corners of her mouth, then spread over her lips. Her lips—lovely, perfect, kissable.

The way she included him in her retinue—Alan, Farrell, and him. Her slaves. The way she wrinkled her nose. The way— The telephone bell jangled him out of his reverie. It was Baker, his assistant engineer, calling from the dam.

"Yes. Got more gravel on the track, should be there by morning. Well, damn it, man, keep them doing something. You've got 10,000 sacks up there. Fill 'em up. Throw them over on the far side where the water will hit first.

"How's that trestle holding? Keep those gravel trucks rolling over it. Get men with shovels in there. Don't let that stone pile up on it. It'll never hold it. Pull all the men off the concrete and steel and put them in there too. I'll be up first thing in the morning. Okay. Hell, you can sleep tomorrow. G'night."

He undressed slowly, crawled into bed. The dam was enough of a worry without adding Emily. Why should he be worrying about Emily Warren, she was another man's wife!

"You're a fool, Eric Kane," he told himself. "That was all over years ago." But was it?

"You're crazy, all right. And you're in love with Emily Warren!"

To Enroll 4,225 In CCC In State

Plans for enrolling 4,225 Missouri youths between the ages of 17 and 23 in the Civilian Conservation Corps next month were announced Saturday by Arthur W. Nebel, director of public assistance for the state social security commission and state supervisor of CCC selection. By administrative order from Washington, boys eighteen years of age or over will be given preference. The enrollees are selected from needy families listed at county offices of the commission.

On April 4, 5 and 6, enrollment of 1,989 youths to be sent to the camps outside the state will take place. They will be assigned to camps in the Ninth Corps area, in the northwestern part of the United States, and in Minnesota and Iowa.

Enrollment of the remainder, including 250 Negroes, will take place on April 10, 12, 13 and 14.

Nebel said that the enrollment was one of the largest ever held in Missouri. Under the revised CCC law, enrollees must be discharged after two years' service and there will be approximately 50,000 replacements in the United States in April because of that rule.

The quota for Pettis county is 45; Benton 25; Cooper 26; Henry 21; Johnson 22; Moniteau 21; Saline 23 and Morgan 21.

Field Trip For Farmers Taken On Thursday

O. T. Coleman In A Talk On Soil Conservation

Thirteen men were in attendance at the second day of the Pettis County Soil Conservation Training School held Thursday, March twenty-third.

The morning part of the meeting was held in the meeting room in the county extension office, and the afternoon part was in the form of a field trip. The William J. Lamm, Guy Berry, and L. E. Shepherd farms were visited on the field trip.

O. T. Coleman, extension specialist in Soils from the Missouri College of Agriculture, led the discussion.

In discussing soil productivity, Mr. Coleman stated that it depended on (1), the parent material from which the soil is derived; (2) the topography (3) the climate and (4) the past and present use of the land.

Mr. Coleman discussed the need for organic matter in the soil from the standpoint of increased moisture holding capacity, better tilth and its effect on increasing the availability of the plant food in the soil.

The value of organic matter in increasing the water holding capacity of the soil was shown in an experiment cited by Mr. Coleman where 100 pounds of sand absorbed 15 pounds of water, 100 pounds of silt absorbed 35 pounds of water and 100 pounds of pure organic matter aborbed 135 pounds of water. He further stated that approximately 90 per cent of the plant food which becomes available is through the breaking down of the organic matter of the soil.

One of the interesting phases of the discussion presented by Mr. Coleman was the need for "Balancing the Ration" for the plants. In order to balance the ration, Mr. Coleman stated that four things must be kept in mind. First, the type of soil must be considered. It is then necessary to know the plant food which is available in the soil as shown by an accurate soil analysis. This analysis of the soil will indicate the plant food which will need to be furnished to provide the balanced ration. The fourth consideration is the price of the various plant foods which need to be supplied.

It was pointed out that most soils of Pettis County are very low in available phosphorus. This plant food can be added only through the addition of commercial fertilizers carrying a high per cent of available phosphorus. In many cases, the organic matter and nitrogen content of the soil is also low and it can be increased most economically through the production of legumes.

In his discussion on the use of barn yard manure, Mr. Coleman pointed out that on an average, one ton of barnyard manure consisted of ten pounds of nitrogen, 4.5 pounds of available phosphate and 9.5 pounds of available potash. The use of commercial fertilizers high in available phosphorus is necessary with the manure to balance the ration for the plant.

Tree Planting To Check Erosion

A demonstration on planting trees in a gully to check erosion is to be held on the Walter Rissler farm, located two miles east of Sedalia on Highway 50, Friday afternoon, March 31, at 1:30 p. m., according to an announcement by J. U. Morris, county extension agent.

Black locust will be used in making the planting in this gully. This tree makes a rapid growth, producing post material in ten to twenty years. It is also unexcelled in erosion control planting and is one of our legume trees; therefore, a soil builder.

In addition to the tree planting demonstration, the care and management of trees will be discussed by Calvin M. Bowen of the Missouri Conservation Commission.

During the past few years, the planting of forest trees to check soil erosion and bring an income to what otherwise might be waste land has become very popular on many farms in Missouri.

All farmers who have woodlands on their farms and are interested in learning the best methods of care and management and any individual's interested in the planting of woodlots, windbreaks, and in planting gullies to trees are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Effects of Smoking Studied in Scientific Way; Results Vary

A survey of all that medical science has found out about the effects of tobacco smoking on digestion indicates that little has been done that is really scientific to determine exactly what happens in many cases.

Doctors sometimes record instances in which people with ulcers of the stomach or with disturbances of the bowels improve tremendously when they stop smoking.

People themselves frequently report that sleeplessness, irritability or similar symptoms disappear when they stop smoking. But these are subjective impressions differing greatly from the scientific studies that are necessary to be certain.

It occurred, therefore, to physiologists Schnedorf and Ivy of Northwestern University Medical School in Chicago to study the effects of tobacco smoking on 15 chronic smokers and five non-smokers.

They found that smoking stimulates the flow of saliva, due to irritation of the lining of the cheeks by the smoke. Apparently the nicotine that is absorbed from two or three cigarets is not significant in relationship to the flow of saliva. Some smokers do not have an extra flow of saliva when they smoke because apparently they have become so used to it that they are insensitive.

When a human being is hungry, his stomach contracts, and these contractions are called "hunger pains." The experts found that the contractions of the stomach due to hunger cease after the first few puffs of smoke. Indeed they will stop after the smoking of one cigaret and may not occur again for from 15 minutes to an hour afterward. Women who have been dieting know about this effect of cigaret smoking and frequently utilize it to help them avoid eating when they are trying to reduce.

The investigators also studied the effects on the secretion of digestive juices by the stomach and intestines of smoking from four to seven cigarets over a period of two hours. They found that the smoking of an ordinary number of cigarets seldom increases the amount of acid put out by the stomach and that the total amount of increase was so slight as to be of little serious significance.

Smoking also failed to have much effect on the secretion of bile. In some cases, however, patients with ulcers of the duodenum fainted after smoking two or more cigarets. Obviously anyone noting such an effect on the heart and circulation ought not to smoke. In certain people who seem to be especially sensitive to tobacco and tobacco products, smoking is followed by changes in the circulation of the blood in the small blood vessels near the surface of the body. For such people, of course, smoking must be considered in an entirely different way from the effects of smoking on people who are not thus sensitive.

The investigators found also that the person who smokes develops all sorts of habits in relationship to the smoking.

• Raising a Family

Argumentative Child Just Giving Will a "Work-Out"

Children get into the habit of arguing. I don't blame them in many cases, where they have to fight for their ordinary rights. But in other cases, it won't do.

The last thing any of us like to admit is that we are wrong. Children are the same way. Half the time they are not concerned so much with getting what they want, or having their own way, as with proving that they are right.

Doris insists that she can go to the movie and still have time to study her lessons afterward. We know very well that when she comes home, her head full of the show, and sleepy to boot, she won't get half of it done, and that half not done well.

We tell her our reasons and she meets them all with a counter attack. We give in finally and let her go. She has not only got what she wanted, but she has attained a moral conquest. She feels that she was justified in insisting.

Donald wants a special kind of film for his camera. He has enough for the ordinary kind, but he needs an extra dime for the new one which he has never tried before.

We tell him that it is merely extravagance and he sets up an argument about having to learn newer and better method of photography. We still insist that it is all nonsense. But Donald is really justified in trying to convince us that his growing interest and ability have to experiment a bit here and there.

There are times when we should listen and weigh the child's arguments and times when we should quickly say 'no" and mean it. That for our side of it.

But abstractly the habit of arguing grows of itself. Little children particularly are prone to keep talking after being denied. This has something to do with will. We must remember that will has to grow just the same as the softer virtues, by exercise.

At four or five, the child may drive us crazy with all the things he can think up to get his way. Sometimes he gets his way without argument, by helping himself But he prefers to ease his conscience by acting with permission, hard-earned as it may be.

Should Outgrow It

With the passing years he should outgrow this habit considerably. He may still argue, but he won't be quite so contrary.

In some children, nevertheless, it grows and becomes fixed. The child grows into a combative man or woman, unready to agree with anyone. The born negativist, or the born nuisance. The instant anyone expresses an opinion, here is our friend all ready to refute it.

Parents will have to permit some arguing. Much of the time a child is entitled to his views.

Albert National Park—"Lost World" of Africa

STRETCHING from the crystal waters of Lake Kivu north across the Equator toward Lake Albert, Albert National Park is an unending wonderland, a "lost world" deep in the heart of the Belgian Congo.

Its vast expanse of 3308 square miles includes both lush jungle and snow-covered volcanoes. Through its forests roam both the newly-discovered okapi and the world's most famous animals. In the park are 600 specimens of the big mountain gorilla alone, every kind of chimpanzee and baboon, buffaloes, hippopotami, elephants, 8000 antelopes and rare birds not yet all named.

So the park is a great outdoor laboratory attracting scientific expeditions from many parts of the world. It is the first national park in Africa and one of the first set aside for truly scientific purposes. To keep the animals untamed, a part of the park's area has been designated as a wildlife retreat in which even scientists are not allowed.

Its altitude runs a range from 2500 to 14,000 feet above sea level. From 9000 to 12,000 feet, the mountain gorillas live in forests of gigantic trees hung with moss, ferns and orchids. This is the country that the late Carl Akeley called the most beautiful in all Africa. A park scene is shown here on a current stamp of the Belgian Congo, one of six values.

During the social hour the girl's sang club songs and played games. Refreshments consisting of cocoa and the demonstration cake were served. Three mothers were present who worked on aprons for the club. Alice Brockman was also a visitor. The next meeting will be with Iola Friedley.

Fire Companies Called

The fire companies at 9:06 o'clock Saturday morning were called to the residence of Everett White, 660 East Sixteenth street, where dry grass and leaves in a rear yard had caught fire. No damage resulted.

60th Year In Sedalia By Heynen Monument Co.

Inset

A carload of "Stone Eternad" memorials from the famous Elberton, Ga., granite district received by the Heynen Monument Co., via the Missouri Pacific railroads.

Above is pictured the Heynen Monument Co., which this year observes its 60th year in the same location on the corner of Ohio and Pacific streets, The business was originally founded by the late C. C. Clay and Mr. C. H. Heynen, of 1109 West 7th street. Mr. Heynen purchased Mr. Clay's interest in 1898. Mr. Heynen continued the business and was assisted in later years by his sons, William C., Charles P. and Clyde. The former two sons are now deceased. The business is now under the management of Clyde Heynen and he has his son, Alvin C. and nephew, Rea B. as assistants.

Mr. C. H. Heynen was active in service until two years ago when ill health caused his retirement. C. H. Heynen came to Sedalia in 1875 and worked as a marble carver until establishing the business in 1879.

This firm has designed and erected many memorials to families throughout central Missouri, as well as the city of Sedalia.

Thanks To The Junior Red Cross For Gift

Miss Nettie Lamm, chairman of the Pettis County Junior Red Cross, has received the following letter from F. N. Gordon, manager of the Veterans Administration at Fayetteville, Ark.:

"The box of St. Patrick's napkins and attractive tray favors were received today and on behalf of the patients in this hospital we wish to thank you and the juniors for these remembrances. You may be assured they will be much enjoyed by the patients and we wish to express our appreciation of your interest in the ex-service men in this hospital."

Waiting for a twin baby has become so commonplace that many hospitals must be thinking of reinforcing the floor.

Collision At Main And Ohio

Two cars were slightly damaged in a collision at the intersection of Main street and Ohio avenue Friday night.

A 1931 Chevrolet roadster driven east on Main by William Bryant, route 2, collided with a 1929 Ford driven West on Main by Homer Thompson, colored, of Knobnoster.

Officers Anson Finnell, William Couhig and Herman Fischer investigated the accident.

Perfection of Lettering

Lettering is of the utmost importance on a memorial. Whether it is a marker or a large monument, we use great care to have the letters properly proportioned and well spaced, with sharp lines and graceful curves deeply incised. With the Lithichrome process we execute letters that are artistic and easily read—

Don't Let Business Improvement Find You on the Doorstep—Get Inside!

NINE ANSWERS TO 'WHAT'S AHEAD?'

Alexander Hamilton	Prospects for the first half year are favorable. The recent slackening of industrial activity is a natural sequel to the rapid rise last summer and fall.
Babson	Business should expand further in coming months, stimulated by increasing gains in the heavy industries and a speeding up of armament activities.
Brookmire	The present lull will be followed by greater-than-usual expansion this spring, and the recovery now under way should be the broadest since the 1920's.
Colonel Ayres	Business men in general are justified in feeling pretty confident about further improvement at least during the first half of this year.
Poors'	Any business readjustment during the next few weeks will be moderate, and a resumption of the uptrend should not be long delayed.
American Inst. for Economic Research	Setbacks are not unusual during recovery periods, and the upturn which began last June will probably be resumed following the present moderate reaction.
Harland Allen	Business has lost little of the gains recorded last fall, and increased private utility construction should provide a significant new lifting force.
Gibson	The underlying business trend is strongly upward, and the recovery movement should eventually carry activity well above the peak levels of 1937.
United Business Service	Activity may drift somewhat lower over the near term, but the groundwork is being laid for a resumption of business recovery during the second quarter.
